DDK:

Welcome one and all to DEFIANCE ROAD! And coming up in our opening match, we've got the winners of the first-ever BRAZEN RISE Tag League making their in-ring debut as members of the DEFIANCE Roster! Spoilers for the main event of the latest Clash of the BRAZEN...

Angus:

Which you can watch right now!

DDK:

... but the Wrestlefriends have made it to DEFIANCE! Their first opponents are a BRAZEN tag team looking to make a mark in The Brutal Attack Force!

Angus:

Honestly, I don't like these do-gooding dopes, The WrestleFriends, but they came through in the end. They not only had to win a grueling match with The Gentlemen's Agreement, they also had to fight The Louisiana Bulldogs in a special playoff match, then had to take on The Strong Style Stranglers, but somehow they beat them all.

DDK:

We've heard that BAF weren't too happy that they didn't get the chance to compete. Both Solomon Grendel and Petey Garrett maintain if they were invited, they would have won the League.

Angus:

Well, they weren't. But if they show me something tonight, maybe I'll put in a good word with the brass and see what we can do about making them full-time roster members then.

The small, but deadly "Bantam" Ryan Batts in his "I'm The G Damn Bantam!" shirt, along with the wild man, "Manpower" Jack Mace complete in a black body-length sleeveless singlet and a massive grey wolf pelt! Batts gets lifted up onto Mace's shoulders and the two head to the ring with Mace high-five the fans. They stop by the fan with the "HONORARY WRESTLEFRIEND" sign and Batts throws him the rally towel, making his day. After the free ride, Batts gets put on the apron and climbs the turnbuckle to pose with a fist in the air as Mace raises both hands on the turnbuckle. The two head to the ring now as the BAF look nauseated by the pandering antics of the supposed wrestling superhero duo.

DDK:

The WrestleFriends were trained partially by former FIST of DEFIANCE Oscar Burns prior to Burns coming to America. Batts is a dynamo in the ring being 5'8" and 213 pounds. He can mat-wrestle and fly like crazy. Mace is a powerhouse with some technical ability that can be surprising for his size. They spent a couple months in BRAZEN and impressed officials pretty quickly to earn their Tag League spot.

Angus:

And let's see if they can make the most of that BRAZEN RISE Tag League win. Like I said, these guys earned it.

The WrestleFriends both offer handshakes to BAF, but Grendel and Garrett mock them by extending hands, only to shake their respective hands only. Batts shrugs off the sign of disrespect as the bell rings.

Conor Fuse:

Almost. Fifth coat of cleanser. Can never been too careful.

Tyler watches over one more wrestling move on the iPad and then puts it down. He turns to his brother.

Jestal skips around the ring laughing as Blackwood tries to frantically drag himself into his corner. He then remembers that he has no one there. Instead, he sits in the corner, holding his arm... all the while Jestal stops skipping in the ring and now begins to mock the one arm Blackwood. The Faithful are booing loudly. Blackwood quickly grows angry at the mockery from the jester and he tries with everything he has to pull himself up with one arm.

Jestal just looks at him with an insincere shock look on his face. He tags his sister in. At this point Blackwood doesn't care and is motioning for her to bring it. She cocks her head to the side and jumps for joy.

DDK:

Angus:

Dandy charges at Blackwood and does some gymnastic flips before jumping backward into a back elbow, smashing her opponent in the corner. She quickly jumps up and nails a reverse enziguri(Pay-Lay)!

Blackwood falls face-first while Dandy gets up and jumps for joy in front of him. On one arm, though, Blackwood slowly pulls himself to his hands and knees. WRESTLEFRIENDS, ASSEM... NO, CONGREGATE, NO... GATHER... NO...

After the conclusion of the six-man tag team match, the camera pans back to the locker room where we find Lance Warner standing by backstage.

Lance Warner:

Hello, DEFIANCE fans. Thanks for joining us tonight for DEFIANCE Road! Coming up momentarily, we're going to have a few quick words with the winners of the BRAZEN RISE Tag League and the men who won our opening match tonight... The WrestleFriends.

The door opens after his note and out comes "Bantam" Ryan Batts and "Manpower" Jack Mace aka The WrestleFriends.

Ryan Batts:

Lance! What's good, man?

He shakes the hand of the interviewer while behind him, the massive Jack Mace tips an imaginary cap.

Jack Mace:

MATE! THANKS FOR THE WELCOME!

He slaps Warner's back that from a normal man, might be a friendly and not painful gesture. The blow from the uber friendly Brit almost knocks Lance off his feet. After stumbling, Lance takes a second to adjust himself. Jack apologizes.

Jack Mace:

Erm... sorry, mate. Don't know my own strength sometimes.

Ryan Batts:

That, he does not.

Lance finally fixes his glasses and continues on.

Lance Warner:

First off, I'd just like to congratulate you on your recent success. You've had a busy schedule the last couple of months competing in the BRAZEN RISE Tag League, then CLASH of the BRAZEN where you won the league, then leading right into this PPV where you defeated Brutal Attack Force. So tell us... what's next for WrestleFriends?

Ryan Batts nods.

Ryan Batts:

Thanks man. Jack and I have two goals that we want to accomplish in DEFIANCE. The first and most obvious one... the DEFIANCE World Tag Team Titles! The Fuse Bros have been phenomenal champions, but eventually we have those titles in our sights. We will fight them and when we do...

Jack Mace:

Ryan Batts:

For us to help rid DEFIANCE of The Occupation once and for all!

A BIG pop from the DEFIANCE Faithful for that lofty goal.

Lance Warner:

Wow, quite some goals there.

Ryan nods.

Ryan Batts:

Big goals they are, but when Jack Mace and I put our talents together, there's NOTHING we can't do. You look at us and you may see some big superhero fanboys and... well, heh, we are. But we're competitors first and foremost and the WrestleFriends are about preserving honor and integrity in this sport that seems to be going away day by day. We want to put on the best matches, restore honor to titles, and give the Faithful a REASON to want to be here!

Jack Mace:

That's right! We're going to make this sport WrestleFriendly again!

The two bump fists before Ryan continues.

Ryan Batts:

Quite frankly, what The Occupation have been doing to DEFIANCE and its top titles is an embarrassment and a black eye to our sport. You better believe that the first chance we get, trust me we'll do our part in doing something about this. Scott Stevens injured our mentor and friend, Oscar Burns! THE Jay Harvey has been flapping his gums for FAR too long. The rest of the Stevens Dynasty have been treating the ring like their plaything and Harmen is downright insane and needs to be dealt with. How are they going to get him up!?!? That's 100% dead weight!

Tyler's expression acknowledges his brother's concerns but he still stays confident. Together, the two brothers pull George to his feet with absolutely everything they have. Then, with help from the corner of the ring, they are somehow able to put George's limp body on top of Tyler's much smaller shoulders. A normal DOOMsday device would mean Tyler would now walk away from the corner of the ring but that is not happening here. It's not a perfect move, by far, because Tyler clearly needs the turnbuckle padding to lend support in order to hold George halfway in the air.

Conor positions on the top rope and with a short-arm lariat, he connects and George falls back to the mat.

For good measure, Tyler gets on the top rope.

ACT VIII: THE RARE DEFCON COIN

Cut to backstage.

Moments after the six man.

The ToyBox walks through the curtain, Jestal has a size fifteen boot imprint on his makeup. His arm is around his sister who is clearly concerned for her brothers well being.

Warner:

Jestal, Dandelion you somehow managed to pull off a huge upset out there moments ago. What is next for the two of you?

Jestal with his eyes crossed responds.

Jestal:

So I told her NO! I do not need cherry sauce on my ice cream.

Warner:

Um...Dandy you may want to take him to Ms. Davine.

Jestal quickly yells at Warner!

Jestal:

I TOLD YOU I DON'T WANT ANY PEANUTS!

Dandy helps Jestal past Warner who clearly is baffled at the responses from the jester.

The two walk down the hallway and reach their locker room. Dandy helps Jestal lean against the wall while she goes to open the door. Jestal's eyes quickly roll into the back of his head and falls face first...a deep voice says...

ACHIEVEMENT UNLOCKED!

Dandelion's eyes look around. She tries to find where the voice came from. A man appears on camera dressed in a grey suit, with one of those XBOX achievement icons as a wrestling mask. He holds a microphone.

Game Master:

Congratulations you just unlocked...

Jestal gets himself to his feet still in a daze. A bumper appears in front of him and reads...

ACHIEVEMENT: Bumbling Idiot!
Has fallen on their face x100

Jestal notices the bumper on the monitor in the hallway.

Jestal:

HEY!

Dandy still a bit in awe. The game master hands a small silver ring case to Dandelion.

Game Master:

You just won the rare DEFCON Coin!

Dandelion opens the case and pulls out the bronze coin. She looks at Jestal, who is still trying to get himself together.

Jestal:

She wants to know what exactly is this DEFCON Coin? By the way you wouldn't happen to have an aspirin by any chance?

The game master shakes his head.

Game Master:

That coin grants you a shot at any championship match at DEFCON 2018!

Dandy's eyes widen with joy, she begins to jump for joy. The game master disappears off camera. Jestal is holding the side of his head, with the other hand on his lower back nursing that vicious belly to belly from Mushigihara moments ago.

The show cuts back to DDK and Angus once more.

DDK:

Well it appears one of the members of The ToyBox have earned a shot at the greatest show DEFIANCE puts on every year DEFCON! Who will they challenge for a championship match?

Angus:

Wait. Wait wait wait. What the fuck is this bullshit. A magic coin? It's not even a mushroom. I understand how that might grant you supernatural powers of bouncing on the heads of people... that makes sense.

DDK:

That makes sense?

Angus:

Are we sure there was even a Game Master there? Did we all just communally hallucinate? Cause, I at least know that crazy clown Jestal needs as much medical attention as he can afford. DDK:

With Elise Ares' signature win being with just a little bit of rule bending, you have to think banning her allies from ringside here is going to be huge.

Angus:

But you know who isn't? Stevens, or the other Stevens, or the other Stevens, or Jack Harmen. She lived by bending the rules and died by bending the rules. There is one thing to be said about Elise Ares though. She's not the best wrestler, or the strongest, or the fastest, or even the smartest... but the girl knows how to turn dirt into gold.

The crowd jumps to their feet as the gunshots turn to sirens, and then with a cheer, they greet Elise Ares as she bursts out into the WrestlePlex. She isn't alone though, with her is a familiar favorite. It's the return of the SEGWAY~! On her pre-championship chariot, Elise does a victory lap on the stage area before parking at the top of the aisle. Looking over her shoulder through LED sunglasses scrolling "NEXT SOHER CHAMP" she watches as flames shoot out of the back of her Segway, nearly catching her high fashion trench coat on fire. The crowd erupts as Elise jumps off and drops coat to the floor, revealing the Tiffany Blue in her ring attire has been replaced by sparkly gold under her "Queen of Sports Entertainment Style" baby tee. She poses for the iPhones with a smirk before swaggering down to the ring.

DDK:

Elise looks to be bringing the fire tonight, Angus! Pun intended!

Angus:

That line makes me want to hang myself, Keebs.

DDK:

Speaking of hanging oneself, Elise's stipulation to try to keep outside interference from her match really came back to bite her here. She looks almost naked without The D and Klein out here at ringside.

Angus:

We could only hope, Keebs, but I'm pretty sure that's just gold ring attire.

Elise slides onto the apron and lays across, hand on her head looking at the hard camera before she tosses her sunglasses into the crowd and rolls into the ring. She gets back up to her feet a bit suggestively before pulling her shirt off and tossing it directly into the face of some schmuck in the first row holding a Jay Harvey sign. From the top rope, she hypes up the crowd, making belt motions around her waist before jumping down into a somersault and posing once again.

Elise Ares rushes Jay Harvey like a bat out of hell. She's on Harvey like white on rice and the crowd is loving it. She throws lefts and rights, pushing Harvey into a corner. Harvey does his best to cover up but Ares is able to get some shots in. Harvey puts himself between the middle and top rope getting Carla Ferrari between him and the assault from Ares.

The crowd starts booing as Harvey yells at Ferrari to get Ares away from him. Ares soon makes her way across the ring as Harvey keeps his eyes on her. Harvey has some words for the fiery ref basically telling her to keep things in check.

Harvey is now walking around in his corner making sure Ferrari keeps Ares at bay across the ring. Ferrari signals for the two to get back to action and Harvey immediately vacates the ring before Ares can get to him. The crowd is roaring with boos as Harvey moves around the outside of the ring.

Harvey and Ares exchange words as Carla Ferrari tries her best to get Ares back toward the center of the ring. Harvey keeps walking along ringside as the fans behind the barricade scream and curse at him. Ferrari turns her attention to Harvey and tells him to get into the ring.

Ferrari starts her Ten Count as Harvey grabs the middle rope. He gets onto the apron and puts his right leg into the ring, looks up at Ares and then makes his way back down to the ring floor. The crowd is fuming and so is Ares. Harvey rolls his shoulders as he marches around the ring.

Elise Ares attacks Harvey from behind and the crowd is loving it. Ares is raining forearms on Harvey's back and shoulders. Harvey backs off, rolling into the ring and Ares is right on his ass. Ares is inches behind Harvey who kicks out Ares' legs from under her.

Harvey quickly transitions that into an Armbar submission maneuver. Ares is kicking her feet trying to get to the nearby bottom rope. Harvey has the hold locked on deep as the rolling camera gets a shot of the agony on Elise Ares' face.

Ares still fights, making it inches from the bottom rope. The sold-out DEFIANCE crowd is on their feet trying to give Ares the strength to get to the ropes to break the hold. Harvey is doing his best to pull the two toward the middle of the ring but Ares is able to get to the ropes.

Harvey is refusing to let the submission go and Carla Ferrari goes right into a Five Count. Harvey lets go at four as the boo birds rain down on him. Harvey gets back to his feet and goes right for that left arm of Ares. He lands a stiff looking right fist to Ares' left shoulder. Ares is trying to defend the blows but Harvey snatches her wrist and almost pulls her arm out of the socket. Ares drops to the mat and she clutches her left shoulder as Harvey once again yanks on her arm.

Harvey extends Ares' arm out and lands an elbow right on her shoulder. He wrenches back on her arm and Ares screams in pain. Harvey turns on the jets and lands repeated knees to the possibly injured left shoulder of Elise Ares. Harvey is also quick to put on another Armbar. Elise Ares is in the middle of the ring and things aren't looking good.

Harvey yells at Ares to give up but Ares is still in this fight. The crowd is trying their best to will Ares to find a way out of this predicament. Carla Ferrari is right in the middle of things, asking Ares if she wants to give up and the answer is a loud "NO!".

Harvey rolls out of the ring and to the outside. Harvey locks eyes on a fan that is holding a "Harvey Sucks" sign and he begins interacting with the man who is too old to be bringing signs to a wrestling show in the first place. Harvey grabs the sign out of the fan's grubby hands and rips it into pieces.

After Harvey throws the pieces of the sign at the fan he makes his way to the vicinity of his opponent. Harvey stalks his prey while Ares is crawling with her one good arm while keeping her injured arm tucked into her body. Carla Ferrari is giving the two some leeway but is starting her Ten Count.

Ares is caught, Harvey has her by the waistband of her tights and looks to set up some sort of Backdrop Driver. Harvey throws his weight and Ares back and she is able to fly in the air and land on her feet. The crowd is going crazy along ringside as Harvey turns around in shock.

Harvey is turning red and looks enraged. He exhales, spitting saliva and sweat out in front of him. He grabs Ares by the hair and tosses her into the ring. Harvey is right behind her and loving the hate he is getting from the Faithful.

Carla Ferrari is giving Harvey an earful about the hair pulling but Harvey shoos her away. Harvey stands in the center of the ring and puts his arms out to his side, basking in the boos of Four Thousand strong. Harvey now looks down on Elise Ares.

Jay Harvey:

The crowd erupts as Harvey crashes knee first into the top turnbuckle. Harvey staggers back and Ares springboards off the ropes and hits a Moonsault Plancha on Harvey. Ares is still in pain and unable to get over to make a pinfall attempt.

Harvey is able to roll out of the way to avoid any pin from Ares. Ares stumbles up to her feet, holding her left arm close to her mid-section. Ares runs toward Harvey and executes a beauty of a one-handed Bulldog that slams Harvey face first into the mat.

Harvey either out of a desperation, ring awareness, or dumb luck rolls out of the ring to avoid a pin by Ares. Ares pulls at her hair in disbelief. The crowd is rocking and Ares makes her way to the outside. Harvey looks to be out cold and Ares is in no shape to bring the bigger Harvey back into the ring.

Ares is using all her strength to try and get Harvey back to his feet using her one good arm. Carla Ferrari is counting slowly with her Ten Count as Ares continues to struggle to get Harvey's dead weight back into the ring.

DDK:

The hard cam picks up some movement in the crowd.

A woman is seen jumping the barricade and making her way toward the ring.

DDK:

Angus:

Catalina distracts Ares and pushes her off the top rope. Ares lands on her feet but stumbles forward. Catalina drops out of sight and Harvey takes that as his cue. Harvey jolts toward Ares and knocks her out cold with a Running Single Knee Facebreaker, or as you clowns know it the Shot of Reality.

Angus:

The NEW CHAMP is here!

Scott skips any further fanfare, slipping out of his leather jacket and dropping it to the stage before heading down to the ring.

DDK:

Didn't you say something about counting chickens before the hatched earlier tonight?

Douglas hops from ringside placing a knee on the apron and then enters the ring. Keeping a watchful eye on Jack Harmen as he takes his place in his corner.

Angus:

I don't listen when I speak, Keebs! Get with the program! NEW CHAMP! I'm calling it RIGHT NOW!

Douglas' theme slowly fades down as Darren Quimby takes his place back in the center of the ring for the announcement of the champion.

The slow bellow of the guitar hits as the video screen lights up and flashes across the screen a Texas flag, with the words, "Texas Born. Texas Bred." "Texas Forever." branded into the flag. The cheers that had once filled the arena quickly turn into jeers. The Faithful know who is about to walk out and they are letting him know it by chanting his

DDK:

Stay put! There is no need for you to find yourself beaten and bruised in the morning, Angus.

Angus:

For starters ... I was going to go double key his rental. Secondly, I have a healthy drinking habit ... I wake up beaten and bruised constantly!

As Angus glibly down plays his potential drinking problem and serial vandalism, Jack Harmen has now turned his attention to Scott Douglas. The former SoHer, with one hand gripping his bruised ribs, is being held up by nothing more than the guardrail.

The capacity crowd, filling the Wrestle-Plex, know that nothing good can come of this situation. A few closest to Scott, pat the fallen former champion on the back encouragingly as select others foolishly reach out toward the approaching Lunatic. As he draws closer it's obvious he the craziest of fan isn't quite that steadfast in their insanity as no hand touches him. He grabs Scott Douglas, similarly to Stevens, spinning him around as the Faithful wait with baited breath.

DDK:

This can't be good!

Harmon, with DEFIANCE'S Favorite Son in hand, stops for moment - looks up and takes in the moment. White heat. An electric crowd but nearly silent at the same time.

Angus:

I SWEAR to GORRAM GOD ...

The moment is fleeting and Harmen's mind is clearly already made up. He tosses Douglas forward on to the apron and into the ring. The previously silent crowd explodes as Harmen insures this match to continue.

DDK:

I ... I can't believe what I'm seeing!

Angus:

... did you say keying!?

Harmen heads back into the ring as the battle worn pair of Scotts have; at least enough wits about them to have crawled and propped themselves in separate and opposing corners. Scott Stevens seems to be parsing together what has taken place and looks none too happy about it. He leers at the returning Harmen but his attention is soon snatched away by the challenger.

Scott, with one hand wrapped around his midsection and the other gripping the top rope: is slowly craning himself back to an upright position. Stevens, follows suit and with the aid of both hands, pulls himself up in a much more efficient manner. The stare down from across the ring begins.

DDK:

Who will make the first move, Angus!?

The tension builds as the entirety of the Wrestle-Plex are firmly on their feet.

LED flashes from cameras and cell phones alike spike the white balance of the broadcast cameras as both men go from being turnbuckle supported to standing freely. Their movement posterized by the flashing disturbance.

Angus:

This is it, Keebs! THIS IS DEFIANCE GOD DAMNIT!

The men in the ring appear in nearly slow motion as the competitors gage one another, each looking for that moment, that opportunity ... that slight slip from the other.

Jack Harmen, slowly positions himself; his back against a neutral corner but closer to the center of the ring than the dueling Scotts. He, in the same dramatic posterized time - brings his right arm up toward his face and with his free hand. Extends his index finger and ... taps at his wrist.

Jack Harmen:

Clocks ticking, boys!

DDK:

Wait, is there a time limit?

Angus:

I dunno. Harmen probably just wants to make sure he returns his recently keyed ... sorry, doubled keyed ... car to the rental shop before they close tonight.

The photography based flashing slowly trickles down a few randoms here and there is a sea of chanting Faithful.

On the other side of the ring, the ailing Scott Douglas rolls his shoulder a bit as he drops the arm previously babying his abdomen.

Scott steps forward. Both of them. One step leads to a sprint toward the other and in the center of the ring the two clash as Angus cries out.

Angus:

TAKE HIS MUTHAFUCKING HEAD OFF!

Obviously, his words of encouragement are meant for Douglas rather than Stevens ... and he is disappointed.

Angus:

As the two nearly collide, Stevens throws a vicious lariat that Scott Douglas narrowly ducks ... he spins and plants his feet for but a moment. The cameras flash once again and everything moves under the posterized effect of a strobe light.

DDK:
STANDING SIDE KICK!

The kick clips Scott Stevens directly in the jaw and the champ goes down. Harmen is wide eyed, less over the maneuver and more over the fact Douglas isn't making a cover. Rather, "Sub Pop" reaches down and begins to pull the FIST of DEFIANCE up from the mat.

Angus:
What in the flying FUCK!?

DDK:
It's that ... ambulance we saw earlier.

The DEFiatron shows the video of the ambulance in flames with the door hinges hanging to the side. Douglas let's go of Stevens and his attention is turned to the screen. Harmen questions him until Douglas slowly raises a hand to point to the screen ...

Harmen turns to see an ominous shadow on the ground, flickering from the lights of the flames. The Lunatic cocks his head like a confused puppy just as the video quickly turns to static.

Harmen looks back to Douglas - Douglas to Harmen. Both clearly expect the other of some fuckery. From one another - back to the screen as the static gives way to a close up of a pair of eyes.

Closed eyes but ... rapidly twitching.

Angus:
I SAY AGAIN! WHAT THE FUCK!?

Just as they appeared, the closed eyes snap open to reveal pink irises, just before ...

LIGHTS OUT!

Angus:
GOD DAMNIT! It's the Reapers! It's the REAPERS back to SCREW Scott Douglas AGAIN!

Angus screams in the dark as the lights return and Crimson Lord stands on the ring apron appearing far different than the last time the audience has seen him.

Clad in nothing more than a hospital gown, his hair now cropped with a distinct widows peak and a dark pink and white tint to it's hue. His large mutton chops framing a horseshoe mustache from a time forgotten and a soul patch as the exclamation point to this new pink and white look.

His face, though identifiable, slightly obscured by black and red face paint around his eyes. He appears bigger than before. More vascular. Somehow ... more intense.

DDK:
I can only pray ... this ... this - MONSTER! ... has not aligned himself with The Occupation!

Crimson Lord reaches out from the apron toward a dumbfounded Scott Douglas, nearly gripping his throat before ...

DDK:

Harmen! Harmen jumped in the way!

Harmon elbows Douglas out of the way and finds himself in the clutches of the reborn monster. Crimson Lord doesn't look content with his catch of the day as Harmen reaches up grabbing his wrist by both hands. The Lunatic begins to pull this death grip away from his neck as Douglas steps forward to help.

Angus:

DAMNIT, SCOTT! Kick this FRANKENSTEIN FUCK TOO! AND lets get this W!!

DDK:

Actually, Angus... Frankenstein was the doctor and ...

Crimson Lord pulls free of Harmen's grip of his wrists. The two former foes inside the ring lunge toward the monster as Crimson Lord brings down both fists on the pair. Jack Harmen, shoving Scott Douglas out of the way, takes the brunt of the punishment - and crashes to the mat; next to the ropes.

Angus:

ACTUALLY ... Shut the fuck up, Keebs! HOLD ON! IS THAT ... !?

The camera stay fixed on the action unfolding in the ring.

DDK:

Can I talk ...

But the Faithful clearly have noticed something happening.

Angus:

WHAT!?

A figure dashes to ringside and the Faithful take notice with an uproarious pop that nearly shakes the building.

DDK:

OSCAR BURNS! OSCAR BURNS!

Oscar grabs the hospital gown clad Lord by his ankles and yanks him from the ring apron; sending him crashing down face first. The effects seems less than damaging as Crimson Lord turns around and squares up with his former opponent and the MOST recent former FIST of DEFIANCE.

DDK:

This is chaos!

Crimson Lord swings for the smaller Burns and lands a solid right - but with the Faithful clearly behind him, Burns fires back.

Inside the ring, Douglas looks on in confusion. Harmen is down, a war has reignited on the outside and Stevens has recovered and ...

DDK:

TOXIC STING! TOXIC STING! Out of nowhere!

Steven's makes the cover, but there is no one there to count it. Stevens looks up and finally takes notice of Jack Harmen struggling to shake off the effects near the corner. Rather than attempt to help his stable mate, Stevens drops to the mat and rolls to the outside. Opposite of Crimson Lord and Oscar Burns.

Angus:

What the hell is this little piece of shit doing!?

DDK:

I don't know but Crimson Lord and Oscar Burns are getting a little too close for comfort!

The camera cuts to the rampway and sure enough, the pair - continuously trading blows, have worked their way up toward the stage. Now only a few feet away from commentary, the tit for tat has not slowed. The two freshly returned and clearly well rested men have the energy and determination to go. The time away surely hasn't given either any perspective or forgiving understanding toward one another.

DDK:

I don't know if this ends well for us, Angus!

The brawling continues as they near the entrance curtain, Crimson Lord throws a huge lariat with the intent of taking Oscar's head off. Oscar ducks under - positioning his back to the ring. Crimson turns around and Burns throws both hands at him - checking him in the chest and putting Lord off balance. He quickly follows up with a slight step back and a leaping forearm forward that send both men beyond the curtain and out of view.

DDK:

That was a close one!

Angus:

SON OF A BITCH!

Inside the ring, Stevens has returned with a steel chair in hand. Douglas is still laid out in the center of the ring. Stevens wields the chair, upside down, by it's legs and drives into Sup Pops lower back. He comes to, in pain and instinctively rolls over only to catch the same into his injured ribs. Scott presses his forearm against his midsection as he sits up - attempting to relieve the pain only to look up and realize Scott Stevens now has the chair cocked above his head ready to swing for the fences.

DDK:

This may be all she wrote for Scott Douglas!

Steven's swings but no - he finds himself stuck.

Angus:

HOLY SHIT! HARMEN! THAT KEYED UP RENTAL CAR SON OF A GUN!

Harmen, now back on his feet, snatches the chair from Scott Stevens and drops it over the top rope. As it clangs on the ring floor - Stevens turns and much as the match started gets in the Lunatic's face. This time he's extremely angry and he wants Harmen to know it. He pushes him.

Angus:

He's trying to get DQ'd! This was their plan all along... I knew it!

Angus is focused on the ring but Darren was no fan of the action drawing so close to their broadcast position - and his attention is clearly on his own safety. The curtains flap and it appears Crimson Lord and Oscar Burns have not made it very far and are still at each other's throats.

DDK:

They're back!

Inside the ring, Harmen warns Stevens for the push but doesn't retaliate. Stevens gets cocky and pushes Harmen again. The Lunatic's back grazes the ring ropes, with his head cocked to the right - trying to hold back his temper and remain as impartial as possible. He puts up a palm and places his other hand as if he was cutting it in half, and makes a small sawing motion.

On the stage, what was assumed to be Crimson Lord and Oscar Bruns still duking it out in the vicinity turns out to be George and Bo Stevens attempting to make their way to the ring. Although, they've found an obstacle to that pursuit. Kerry Kuroyama.

George and Bo, clearly think they've quelled the Kerry threat before parting the curtains and make their way onto the stage with little more than a broken sweat. But quickly rushes through the curtain and attacks from behind. Darren is aghast as he has just traded a one on one threat for a two on one ... and he and Angus are still in the line of fire to become collateral damage.

DDK:

Oh no ...

In the ring, Stevens' gawl grows exponentially as he jaw jacks Harmen... until Jack has had enough. He turns toward Stevens and pushes him back, the force sends Stevens staggering backward struggling to remain upright.

On the ramp, Kerry can't keep up with both of the Stevens' brothers and he is quickly finding himself on the losing end of the fight.

The camera cuts quickly to the stage where George and Bo, now joined by Cary are headed to the ring to celebrate with Scott. Off to the left, in what once was the commentary booth - DEFmed are checking on Kerry Kuroyama as Darren attempts to deliver parting words for tonight's proceedings.

DDK:

Ladies and gentle --

He stops abruptly as he and Angus both snatch their headsets off and sling them to the floor. Hands to their ears as if some burst of feedback became too much too quickly. We're left with nothing more than on camera audio as we cut back to the ring.

The remaining Faithful have already begun to litter the rings with what was left of their beers, sodas and nearly anything else with enough weight to be flung toward the ring. Jack Harmen, having retrieved the FIST of DEFIANCE title belt from the time keeper, hands it toward Scott Stevens.

Stevens takes his belt and with a devious smile on his face being motioning that Harmen raise his hand in victory. Harmen hesitates but compiles, although he isn't enthusiastic about it. The second Stevens' hand is in the air, Harmen brings Stevens in for a quick hug, whispering something in his ear. He smiles, lets go of Stevens' and leaves him to celebrate with the Stevens' clan, as he drops down and rolls out of the ring.
