THE REIGN OF THE FAVOURED SINNER HAS BEGUN

The arena lights dim. On the DEFIATron, a plain view of a desolate desert landscape slowly fades into view. Then, with a sudden flash of light, the MUSHROOM CLOUD of a nuclear explosion appears on the horizon.

♪ "Apocalyptic Havoc" by Goatwhore ♪

Every metal-head, hesh, knuckler-dragger, and scumfuck in the DEF Arena throw up HORNS as New Orleans-based extreme thrash 'n' roll grinds through the PA. A cloud of SMOKE billows out of the entry-way, and anticipation builds within the crowd.

"ALRIGHT!!"

Stepping through the curtain are three tertiary Reapers--Cyan, Magenta, and Chartreuse--decked out in patch-covered battle vests made of denim, leather, and camo, and wearing t-shirts representing a who's who of the NOLA metal scene: Eyehategod, Crowbar, and Soilent Green. The trio form a line at the head of the ramp and stand there with their arms crossed, looking intimidating.

DDK:

Are those Reapers?!

Lance:

Well they got the masks, but if you ask me they look more like punks out of a Mad Max movie.

Finally, a shape bursts through the curtain and whirls around the row of Reapers like a dervish on speed, and coming to a stop in a Christ pose at the head of the ramp is none other than REZIN! The Faithful welcome DEFIANCE's Favoured Sinner with mostly jeers. Mostly...

Rezin is a ball of white hot energy as his wild face whips around to random corners of the DEF Arena, eyes wide and teeth grinding. He pulls open his battle vest, partly to show off the vintage Exhorder cut-off t-shirt he's rocking, and mainly to reveal the DEFIANCE Favoured Saints Championship around his waist.

Outrageously, he's wearing the belt UPSIDE-DOWN, either out of sheer incompetence or as a DEFIANT act of sacrilege. After a beat, he spins around and throws his thumbs over his shoulders to show off the new and improved patch taking up the back of his vest: an INVERTED FLEUR DE LIS over the words "FAVOURED SINNER" scrawled in a splotchy, messy font.

Rezin and his crew start down the ramp as a unit. The Reaper trio walk with single-minded, unwavering focus, while the Goat Bastard contrarily pinballs between them and the barricade like a frothing, cackling madman, goading fans and getting heat at every possible opportunity.

DDK:

It looks like we're kicking off this second night of action with a visit by our newly crowned Favoured Saints Champion, "The Escape Artist" REZIN, fresh off his title win over previous champ Minute at MAXIMUM DEFIANCE!

Lance:

Am I hearing things, or are there a few people actually CHEERING this scumbag?

At some point, one fan reaches out for a high five, prompting Rezin to reach into his pants and scratch himself before returning it. The fan is unsure how to react.

DDK:

Well, even ignoring his association with the Kabal, we all know the so-called Favoured Sinner is hardly saint. Yet in spite of that, his wild, unorthodox charisma and "punk rock" attitude seems to be slowly winning over the appeal of the Faithful, one battle after the next.

Arriving at ringside, Rezin spots a sign being held over the barricade: "NOLA HATES REZIN". With a point of his finger, Reaper Cyan snatches it out of the fan's hands and hands it over to the Favoured Saints Champion. With a snap of his other finger, Reaper Magenta hands him a fat, black Sharpie marker. The Escape Artist quickly scratches a few letters out and hands the newly improved sign over to Reaper Chartreuse, who holds it up for the camera to see while Rezin points and mugs: "NOLA HATES REZIN".

The Reapers split and post up on the steps, apron and turnbuckle, flanking Rezin as he slips under the ropes, gets to his feet, and unstraps the belt from his waist. Then, chomping down on the top plate of the title, he hooks his arms through the top set of ropes and rolls himself backwards, suspending himself in an inverted Christ post with the likewise upside-down title still clenched in his maniacal grin, giving the camera a perfect close-up of his grizzled and grotesque face.

Lance:

Whether we like it or hate it, Keebs, I think the reign of the Favoured Sinner has finally begun in DEFIANCE.

DDK:

You may be right on that, Lance. And from what we've come to know about Rezin in the year he's been here, it's sure to be an out-of-control roller coaster ride with a lot of unexpected dips and turns! The only thing we can do is hold on tight and hope for the best, cause I'm sure it's gonna be a hell of a ride!

Rezin and his crew take the ring. One of the Reapers has retrieved the mic from ring announcer Darren Quimbey, and hands it over to the Escape Artist.

Rezin:

ARRIGHT, YA SCUM, let's just get this out of the way! YES, I was the one that smoked that blunt with Sha'Carri Richardson! Michael Phelps was also in the rotation! Turns out, kids, winners DO use drugs!

He slaps the upside-down face of the Favoured Saints Championship secured back around his waist to emphasize the point.

Rezin:

Not that it's any surprise to ME! For years, I was overlooked by this sport's hoity-toity cream of the crop, written off as a fool and a fuck-up... never worth the time or effort to be given serious consideration as one of the absolute BEST to ever blaze up the ring! But despite the opinions of those sheep, I never stopped working to prove the haters wrong! They DENY, so I DEFY!

Glaring into the nearby camera on the apron, he points back up the rampway to the back.

Rezin:

Even NOW, after being a part of this company for a little under a year, setting this muthafuggin' ring on FIRE with some of the best, most entertaining wrestling you normies have seen in your life, half of that locker room still won't even acknowledge me! To them, I'm just some sideshow attraction... a mere circus clown...

He unstraps the belt and holds it up to the camera as he leans in, grinning daringly from ear to ear.

Rezin:

Well acknowledge THIS, you stuck-up bitches! A piece of this company now belongs to ME!!

He looks at the Fleur de Lis logo on the face of the belt, representing the brand logo of DEFIANCE's investment firm, and he lets out a sardonic chuckle.

Rezin:

You think Favoured Saints Financial is happy to see their brand name around the waist of a dopesmoking daredevil anarchist?! You think they want THAT as the spokesperson to a BANK?! HA!!

He cackles, pointing up to the owner's skybox.

Rezin:

Those suits hate me more than anyone else, because I won't let them SELL ME! I don't push their t-shirts! I don't push their watered down PG "product"! Which means they can't profit off of me, and the work I put into this ring! Nor should they, because they're nothing but PARASITES who could give a flying fuck about professional wrestling! To them, this company is an investment!

The self-proclaimed Favoured Sinner of DEFIANCE returns the Favoured Saints Championship around his waist, once again upside down. Now it's clear he's doing it intentionally.

Rezin:

But for ME? DEFIANCE is a BATTLEFIELD! I don't give a shit about selling any product, because every time I'm in this ring, I bring to YOU -- the FAITHFUL -- the only damn product you normies deserve! A product so pure, so REAL, that many of you still don't know what to make of it! I give you only what this company's very NAME promises to deliver!

His grin is scary huge by this point as he proudly sticks a thumb into his chest.

Rezin:

I strolled into this company you call DEFIANCE, and I showed the world what being a DEFIANT actually looks like! It ain't the ass-kissing company darling! It ain't the swag-pushing poster boy! It's ME!

He tugs on his unkempt beard, eyes filled with fury.

He tosses the vest on the mat and begins compulsively dropping elbows onto it.

Rezin:

OWW!!

Rezin sits up and sees a Black Flag pin stuck in his elbow. Clearly, he didn't think that one through. Regardless, he pulls the point of the pin out of his arm as he quickly gets to his feet. Reaper Cyan has a roll of duct tape on hand that the Escape Artist immediately uses to wrap up his elbow and seal up the wound. Also not well thought out, but still punk rock as fuck. He brandishes the mic once again.

Rezin:

See THAT?! That's what I'm talking about! Being a DEFIANT means being a REBEL! Being UNCONVENTIONAL! Going against the grain, just for the FUCK of it! And in case this belt wasn't proof enough for you, that's exactly what I am all about!

He walks up to the ropes and leans into them so hard his feet leave the ring, practically frothing at the mouth at this point.

Rezin:

Y'all are looking at the man who has re-DEF-ined what it means to be DEFIANT in this modern age of wrestling! And so long as I hold the brand around my waist, there ain't anyone -- ANYONE AT ALL -- in this whole federation who could say otherwise!

He again points accusingly into the camera.

Rezin:

The crowd pops at the name mention, but Rezin snarls indignantly and shakes his fist at the heavens.

Jamie Sawyers:

Something "triggered" you? What could Scott Stevens possibly say to push you over the edge like that.

Kuroyama stops in his tracks and lets out a long, drawn-out sigh. He turns back to Sawyers and holds out his hand for the mic. Reluctantly, Jamie hands it over, and Kerry walks to the edge of the stage in full view of the Faithful in attendance and the millions more watching at home.

Kerry Kuroyama:

I'm going to say a few things right now, to all of you. Things that might upset some of you when you hear it. And I don't mean to upset anyone, but at the same time, the only thing I owe you is the truth, and sometimes truth can be a harsh and bitter thing to accept. But I'm going to say it now, officially on the record, so I hopefully won't have to have my time wasted needing to answer for myself again in the future.

He stays silent for a beat, allowing only the sound of the anxious fans to fill the arena. They hang on his every word.

Kerry Kuroyama:

I may have come here from Seattle, but DEFIANCE is the home of "The Pacific Blitzkrieg". The ONLY home. I say that with absolute sincerity. When I first came here, I was the protege of a mid-talent solipsist who thrived on his own preachy bullshit. Rocko Daymon wanted to build me in his image, to succeed in all the ways he failed.

He sneers. It's probably the most emotion he's shown all night.

Kerry Kuroyama:

Then as soon as he had a paycheck in his hand, he fucked off to piss it away up his arm, and left me here in New Orleans to fend for myself. For reasons like that, I don't consider myself to be a product of Seattle's Dojo anymore. I am a product of DEFIANCE, through and through.

He gets a small smattering of applause from the Faithful who are inclined to agree, but pushes forward with his speech.

Kerry Kuroyama:

And it should be no mystery to any of you what I'm working toward right now...

He holds up his clenched FIST, in case it wasn't obvious enough.

Kerry Kuroyama:

To be the greatest professional wrestler in the greatest wrestling company on the planet has always been a distant dream of mine. As it should be for every man and woman in that locker room. Every second I breathe, I work toward bringing myself closer to that goal, because to me, there is no greater achievement in this sport. There is no greater honor than to have that distinction, to be the front and center star of this company that I love and cherish.

Another quiet smattering of applause, but then Kerry looks directly into the camera with all seriousness.

Kerry Kuroyama:

So forgive me... but when I hear Scott Stevens say he's putting himself on a path to get back at the FIST, all I can hear is empty bullshit.

Many in the crowd turn on the long-time DEFIANCE talent upon hearing this statement. But Kerry keeps his focus on the camera, speaking to only one man.

Kerry Kuroyama:

Let me be clear on something, Scott... in my eyes, being a former FIST gives you a unique distinction in this company. To a contender like me, being a former FIST carries a certain level of prestige and excellence that represents this federation as the greatest on the planet. It doesn't simply mean you carried a big belt at some point in your career; it means to belong to this sport's undeniable elite.

Wearing the standard sour milk face, he shakes his head disappointedly.

Kerry Kuroyama:

I don't harbor anything against you personally, Scott. But after watching you get your ass handed to you by that garbage-wrestling attention whore Arthur Pleasant and his fuckwit cronies, it was clear as day that you are NOT among this federation's elite. Not anymore, anyway. Much less are you in any position to be talking about taking back the FIST.

He briefly glances and points to the ring he just competed in before his eyes find the camera again.

Kerry Kuroyama:

Trash like that has no place in our ring, Scott. I don't feel I should have to remind you of that. And yet, despite your

"elite" status in this company as a former FIST, you let them tarnish that title you once held by allowing those punks to walk all over you. You let them tarnish this company--my company.

Again, he shakes his head. His teeth are clenched as he makes every effort to hold back the full extent of his anger. The very notion is clearly unacceptable to him.

Kerry Kuroyama:

If there's one thing we all learned at Maximum DEFIANCE, between watching you get outplayed by that untalented, unoriginal wannabe edgelord, and watching the Queen of the Ring get outmatched by a creep in a Halloween costume that uses his "chemistry" to make "monsters", it's that being a former FIST of DEFIANCE doesn't mean jack shit anymore.

He gets the heaviest amount of jeering from this statement, but it's low and brooding. Deep down, too many of them possibly feel that he's not entirely wrong.

Kerry Kuroyama:

As far as I'm concerned, the two of you lost the status of elite the moment you became part of the clownshow that has been perpetually dragging this federation down as of late. The two of you should take a cue from a few other former FISTS like Cayle Murray, Kendrix, and that wannabe celebrity hack that you couldn't get beat, Mikey Unlikely, and consider just hanging it up. Save yourselves from the shame and humiliation of slowly falling from grace, and save the rest of us from the agony of having to sit through it as unwitting witnesses to the follies of your pride.

Some audible "ooohs" rise out of the crowd, but Kerry looks ready to double down on the boldness he's putting on display tonight.

Kerry Kuroyama:

So Scott, when I heard you at UNCUT, talking about how you're ready to right the ship and climb up the ladder to once more compete for that title--the very title I have my sights on--I was determined to remind you, in the only way I knew that you'd actually listen, that talk is cheap, and at the end of the day, only the results matter.

He points into the camera.

Kerry Kuroyama:

I'll show you how I get results, Scott. By doing the very thing you couldn't get done at Maximum DEFIANCE.

Kuroyama shifts his attention away from the camera and glances out over the crowd, now speaking to DEFIANCE as a whole.

Kerry Kuroyama:

Right here and now, I am laying down the challenge to Arthur Pleasant, at UNCUT 100!

Suddenly, the crowd's attitude changes, and they cheer at the prospect of seeing the Pacific Blitzkrieg against the Provocateur. Kerry nods with conviction.

Kerry Kuroyama:

I want that untalented, unoriginal, all-style-no-substance "wrestler"-in-name-only in that ring, in a basic, boring, bread-and-butter vanilla-as-it gets professional wrestling match. I'll get the results that matter, by showing the world that while a fake-ass edgelord mentally trapped in the year 2008 can get lucky against two former FISTS of DEFIANCE, he'll be exposed for the fraud he is as soon as he goes up against a future FIST like me.

His eyes, filled with indescribable fire, again find the camera.

Kerry Kuroyama:

And as for YOU, Scott? You're going to be sitting at home, watching me do what you couldn't get done, and you're going to realize that all that talk about taking back the FIST was just words, and nothing more. And you're going to understand only then that the forearm I put into the back of your head a week ago was the wake-up call your career has sorely needed these past three years since the belt was taken from you.

He takes another step toward the camera, his face now filling the entire frame. His eyes burn with the grave determination of a man who believes fully in every word he says.

Kerry Kuroyama:

STEP. The FUCK. UP... because I will not allow you to tarnish the prestige of this company anymore.

He turns to exit as the production booth takes the cue and begins playing his music again. Kerry hands the mic off to Jamie, who looks completely stunned in the wake of these comments. Without another word, or even acknowledging the mixed crowd reaction, Kuroyama steps through the curtain and heads backstage.

DDK:

Powerful and profound words spoken tonight by "The Pacific Blitzkrieg" Kerry Kuroyama! He definitely isn't sugarcoating his thoughts and opinions to the greater DEFIANCE universe, and I don't think these fans quite know how to react!

Lance:

Those were some controversial statements to be sure, and I'm not sure I'd be inclined to agree with every point, but Kerry Kuroyama spoke like a man with absolute conviction in his beliefs. We know now that his attack on Scott Stevens was motivated by his reverence for the federation's top prize and the object of his desire, the FIST of DEFIANCE.

DDK:

I would not say that Scott "tarnished the prestige" of the FIST with his valiant performance at Maximum DEFIANCE by any means, but regardless, Kuroyama made it clear tonight that he has no tolerance for anyone he deems unfit to be among the DEFIANCE elite. But what will happen at UNCUT 100, when he meets Arthur Pleasant in the ring? How will the Provocateur respond to these comments?

Lance:

I guess we'll have to wait and see, Keebs, but it's a match I'm eagerly anticipating. And I'm sure Scott Stevens will have an interest in watching it as well.

DDK:

I'm told we're still scheduled to take comments from Stevens later tonight, and if he heard everything that was just said, I can't imagine he'll be too happy!

A spotlight comes on in the center of the ring where Jack Harmen and Aaron King of the Scourge are sitting on steel chairs.

Jack Harmen:

Ladies and gentlemen, Children of Certain Ages... Welcome! To a Special moment.

Aaron King:

That's right, Jack! Tonight, we give you, the Faithful...

Harmen looks around and scratches his head. King just shakes his.

Jack Harmen:

Aaron King:

As I was saying... we give you, the Faithful... a celebration...

Jack Harmen:

Harmen starts to clap as King joins in. The Faithful do not.

Jack Harmen:

I know, I know... it's almost too much to bear right now. It's going to be an emotional rollercoaster for everybody seeing the awe inspiring moments of Arthur Pleasant's Hall of Fame career, but... just hang in there, folks. Please. You owe it to the man who has sacrificed so, so much every week for all of you. To make this place BETTER. To make this place... WORTH, ANYTHING. Pyro EXPLODES out from the entrance and travels all the way down the rampway as Metallica's snare drum classic plays over the DEFplex speakers. The lights blast on, revealing a ring covered with a blood red rug and a box with newspaper style "gift wrapping". There's plants in each corner of the ring; which would be impressive if they were not deprived of water, sunshine, and life itself.

Moments later, Arthur Pleasant emerges from the Guerilla position to a San Francisco Symphony styled chorus of boos. Waving his hands in the air like conductor's batons, Pleasant looks ahead and puts his hand to his heart, mouthing the words "Thank you." to his Scourge brethren.

DDK:

I might actually be sick. As in, I might physically vomit.

Lance:

I just can't... EVEN... with this guy. He's been here for what? A little more than 180 days and he's having a CAREER RETROSPECTIVE?! Words like "HALL OF FAME" are being thrown around?

Arthur continues making his way down to the ring, where all of a sudden a blast of what sounds like confetti being released throughout the DEFplex.

DDK:

What the hell is that?!

Lance:

Millions of smiley faces that resemble Arthur's tattoo on his left pectoral rain down upon the audience, Jack, Aaron, and Arthur as he walks to the ring. With smileys stuck to their skin, Keebs and Lance can be heard spitting out the "confetti" and blurting out muffled, slightly annoyed profanity as they cover their mics. Pleasant steps through the ropes and holds his arms out for Jack and Aaron. All three men embrace in the middle of the ring as All Within My Hands fades out and is supplanted by the deafening boos of pretty much the entire state of Louisiana.

"SHUT THE FUCK UP! SHUT THE FUCK UP! SHUT THE FUCK UP!"

Almost as if on cue, Arthur grabs the microphone given by Aaron King and speaks into it.

Arthur Pleasant:

The camera focuses on the once beautiful and now completely dead looking Peace Lily sitting malnourished in its vase turned grave.

Arthur Pleasant:

What a gorgeous looking plant! And over there! Is that a Chinese Evergreen over there?! How did you guys know that's my favorite plant?!

Jack waves his hand, chuckling a bit.

Jack Harmen:

Arthur, man. Forget about the plants! I got enough trees for Rezin in the back. Tonight? We have something much more special to show to you. Guys in the truck? RRRRRROLL IT!!

The lights dim a bit. There's a slow, fade-in theme that hits the speakers of the DEFplex. Soon after, a quote appears on the DEFIAtron as "We Are Young" feat Jonelle Monae plays.

Jack walks over to the newspaper-wrapped, boxy-looking present and picks it up. Carrying it over to Arthur, Jack and Aaron share a look and a nod before presenting it to Arthur. Looking at them both, Arthur again wipes away the "tears" with the endless smiley confetti that litters the ring.

He has his hair tied behind his head in a ponytail. He is sporting a custom sunglasses style monocle. Given its 2021 and not 1886 one has to wonder why he chose that type of eyewear. Tucked under his right arm looks to be a moderately thick book.

Jamie Sawyers:

I am standing here with the man that defeated Lindsay Troy, shocking the world...

Scrow puts his hand over the microphone and lowers it with a glare at Jamie.

Scrow:

Shocker? Do you think Scrow just caught Lindsay on a bad day? Scrow was always better than Lindsay Troy he knew it, she knew it, and well he guesses the world knows it too now. RICK DICKULOUS vs. CODENAME: GUARDIANDDK:

Much earlier tonight The Kabal - now led by Teresa Ames came out to set a bounty on Codename: Guardian's head.

Codename: Guardian has been the ultimate thorn in The Kabal's side for nearly half of year.

The typical 'white static' video package for Codename: Guardian plays as the word 'CODENAME:' appears in solid and impactful looking black letters on the DEFIATron's video visual of a summer time break. Below it, a strange code appears, a random set of numbers but before anything can be made of it, the numbers start flipping into letters until the word 'GUARDIAN' appears below it.

POP! FIREWORKS!

As the fireworks shoot down the ramp way, Codename: Guardian appears from behind the curtains. A rousing reaction from the Faithful is given as the hero of DEFIANCE makes their way quickly towards the ring. Sliding in without hesitation the white masked hero looks back up towards the rampway in eagerness to face off against the supposed Bounty Hunter.

Rick strolls out onto the entrance ramp, his massive frame making the entryway seem tiny, eyes narrowed and staring daggers through Codename: Guardian's chest, his reddish full beard accentuating a wicked scowl. His shaven head glistens in the crimson light, along with his shimmering, oiled upper body. An axe occupies his massive and taped right hand (both are, up to his wrists), resting against the bare flesh of his shoulder. His legs fill his brown industrial work pants - his quads flexing through the thick material, and he sports a pair of plain black boots. Rick makes his way down the ramp and up to the ring area, his eyes still exuding hate and loathing towards Codename: Guardian. He walks up the stairs slowly and steps over the top rope and into the ring. Benny Doyle takes The Lumbergiant's axe and hands it off to ring staff before calling for the bell.

DING DING

Rick snarls across the ring at Codename: Guardian before charging across the ring at his much smaller opponent, but misjudges their legerity as Guardian deftly tumbles aside at the last moment and delivers a sharp kick to the big man's knee. Suddenly off balance and with the force of a charging rhinoceros, Rick slams chest first into the turnbuckle as the ropes shake violently all around the ring.

Lance:

Codename: Guardian getting out of the way in the nick of time!

DDK:

Rick Dickulous was clearly going for the early kill and underestimated his opponent. If he can catch his breath, Rick's gonna have to rethink his plan, Lance.

Rick ricochets backwards, clutching his chest as Codename: Guardian quickly capitalizes, running towards the corner and deftly stepping up the first and second turnbuckles and launching towards The Lumbergiant with a spinning snap kick that strikes him clean across the jaw as the crowd erupts in cheers! Continuing the assault, Guardian lands in front of the stunned Canuck and catches him with an open palm strike that lands solidly under his chin that sends him back another two paces and down to a knee in the center of the ring. Codename: Guardian then runs past Rick's right side, bouncing off the ropes and launching back across the ring to the opposite ropes and bounding off them, before delivering a double leg dropkick from a full run that sends The Lumbergiant to the canvas.

As Guardian moves in to continue the assault, Rick quickly rolls twice and out of the ring to the outside with a frustrated scowl as he slams his hands on the ring apron in anger. As he regains his composure, Benny Doyle's count reaches four before Rick steps back over the ropes.

DDK:

That little break's enough to diffuse the momentum Codename: Guardian was building, now let's see if Rick Dickulous can turn things around.

Codename: Guardian and Rick Dickulous circle each other in the ring a few times, neither one willing to give the other an opportunity. Suddenly Rick switches direction and before Guardian can react, Rick grabs their arm and irish whips them towards the ropes with a brutish grunt. As Guardian rebounds back towards the centre of the ring, a giant boot meets their mask which hits with such force that Guardian literally does a full backflip before crashing to the mat on their stomach in a heap.

Rick takes control of Guardian, irish whipping them into the corner and following along behind at full steam with a brutal corner splash. Codename: Guardian spins around as Rick steps back, relentlessly delivering knees to the midsection as Benny Doyle quickly rushes in to regain control, pushing Rick back after a five count.

Codename: Guardian takes the initiative and charges at Rick, clearly trying to catch him off guard but is met with a stiff forearm strike. Rick follows it up with another, and another, hammering Guardian again back into the corner before irish whipping them to the opposite corner with Rick's full force. Codename: Guardian manages to turn their back to the turnbuckles before impact, but the force of the throw ends up launching Guardian over the ropes and to the outside of the ring.

With Rick Dickulous' music slowly fading out over DEFArena, Teresa Ames walks with purpose with not only a briefcase full of money, but also the entire Kabal stable. A sinister smirk is all over Teresa's face as she signals Victor Vacio and Tyler Fuse to enter the ring first and apprehend The Kabal's biggest threat, Codename: Guardian.

DDK:

This is completely unfair - Codename: Guardian is outmatched right now in the ring and after suffering a huge loss at the hands of Rick Dickulous, I don't think they are in any shape to face the wrath of Teresa.

Rezin and Scrow slowly follow Stalker into the ring as the methodical monster walks with complete silence up the steel steps and into the ring. Teresa grabs a microphone from the timekeeper's table as she addresses The Faithful with utter glee from outside the ring.

For a point of emphasis and authority, Teresa Ames charges across the ring and kicks Codename: Guardian without mercy in the chest. The force of the kicks cause Guardian to spill back to the mat and out of the controlling grips of Victor Vacio and Scrow.

Teresa Ames:

The money case in Teresa's hand seems to be keeping Rick's attention. He's moving in to unmask the hero. Perhaps he's curious about the identity of Guardian himself now.

As the crowd's boos turn louder, Rick's desire to be paid takes over him. Kneeling next to the essentially knocked out Guardian, Rick Dickulous reaches in to yank the mask off from the fallen hero.

DDK:

I'm going to be sick...

The dismay of the crowd continues as Rick's handiwork takes a bit of a struggle, the Hero's mask is fastened in and takes more than just brute strength to rip it free. While Teresa, Rezin and a silent Stalker stare on from further away, Victor Vacio and Scrow get a first hand look when the mask is finally pulled and dropped away from Codename: Guardian.

DDK:

It's... it's....

As the Faithful watches on in hopes of high anticipation, could it be Eugene Dewey? Could it be Eric Dane? Could it be Dan Ryan? No, as the Faithful watch their white masked hero's visage get ripped away from their face, an air of let out was given when the long red hair was first recognized.

Lance:

Jessica Reeves... I... even after MAXIMUM DEFIANCE I had my suspicions! She's been hovering around us for weeks, hanging off in the shadows. I guess it only makes sense to be her, even through her attempts to hide her identity as the masked hero, something always felt off!

A beaten down and knocked out Jessica can't fight Rick's oversized hands from ripping away the mask protecting her identity from the world. When the mask falls to the mat, Rick immediately backs away, getting the briefcase of money shoved into his gut by Teresa as the now vengeful leader of the Kabal takes the mic into both of her hands as she approaches the fallen crusader in white.

Teresa Ames:

Trademark resiliency there from Arthur Pleasant. How does he DO it?!?!

Lance:

I dunno, Keebs. After all these months I still cannot process how Arthur can reach down so deep within himself and manage to kick out from some of the most hard-hitting moves in wrestling. Blows my mind, every time.

Turning his attention back on Pleasant- who looks to be recovering from the impressive hard-hitting Asai Arabian Moonsault- Vacio drags him even further away from the corner so that he is smack dab in the center of the ring. Looking to repeat the same move, Vacio hops over the ropes and lands on the outside apron. Springboarding up, Vacio twists and lands with his thighs on the top rope again, but as Vacio comes down, Pleasant moves out of the way... but Vacio lands on his feet, which the crowd shows appreciation for due to his athletic prowess!

DDK:

Whoa. That was a great sequence there.

Lance:

Look! They're not done!

Pleasant is up and Vacio is waiting for him to turn around to face him. Just as Vacio rushes forward and measures him up, Pleasant spins with amazing speed and nails a spinning sole kick to Victor's mid-section, doubling him over. Wasting no time, Pleasant places Vacio's head between his legs, and in one smooth motion, lifts him up and snaps him back down, spiking him with a snapping piledriver!

DDK:

Both of these guys are gonna have hurting necks after this one is all said and done!

Sitting Vacio up, Pleasant goes for a rear necklock, pressing the hard point of his knee into his opponent's spine. Vacio winces and shouts out in agony, but Pleasant does not keep this hold on him for long as he stands up and delivers a scintillating penalty kick to the Lost Cause's back. Running into the ropes, Pleasant returns and nails another penalty kick, this time hitting Vacio under his jaw!

DDK:

Right on the button!

Lance:

Wow, this could be it! I can't believe the ferocity of those kicks.

Again, Pleasant makes a lateral press, yelling at Navarro.

Lance:

Pleasant puts his hands up as if to say, "Okay, okay. You got it, Boss.". This distraction was all the time Vacio needed, however, as he is up at the top turnbuckle. Pleasant turns around just as Vacio dives forward in a twisting motion and NAILS Pleasant with a spinning missile dropkick!

Vacio slaps his hand on the mat out of frustration. Through the mask must be gritted teeth as the Lost Cause peels the Provocateur up off of the mat.

Victor Vacio:

¡Ya terminaste, gilipollas!

DDK:

What did he just say?!

Lance:

I'm not sure but it's not looking good for Arthur right now!

Vacio guides Arthur to his feet. Setting him up for a Northern Lights Suplex, Vacio lifts Arthur up and connects with it! Rolling back, Vacio pulls Pleasant up, grabs an arm, twists it into a short-arm position. Pulling Pleasant towards him, Vacio delivers a nasty pull-through forearm to the face. Pleasant is rocked back, and to cap off the combination of moves, Vacio jumps up and hits a standing enziguri! Pleasant goes down again and Vacio again hooks both legs!

Pulling Pleasant towards the ropes, Vacio makes the throat slashing motion at Pleasant and steps through the ropes to the outside.

DDK:

Just as he climbs to the top rope, Aaron King hops up onto the apron and distracts Hector Navarro. This allows Jack Harmen to climb up onto the ropes with Hector's back turned. Harmen climbs all the way up to the top, with his foot on the ring post for extra balance. Before Victor can do anything about Jack's presence, Harmen grabs Victor by his hair and drops down all the way to the outside, SLAMMING Victor's face right into the ring post!

DDK:

Pleasant gets to his feet, looking at Vacio's fallen frame. Pushing up underneath Vacio's body, he lets Vacio fall down while Pleasant twists and connects with a devastating double-knee facebreaker!

Ladies and gentlemen, my guest at this time coming in live via satellite from his home in Texas, Scott Stevens.

The crowd roars with cheers as the Texan is shown on the screen, but Scott is not in a happy mood as his signature scowl is ever present along with a few cuts and bruises plastered on his face.

To a mixed and loud ovation, REZIN bursts through the curtain, now decked out in his longcoat and top hat steampunk villain attire. The Favoured Saints Title hangs from his waist, once again worn upside-down. He lets out a villainous cackle as he points daringly at his mortal foe waiting in the ring.

DDK:

DEFIANCE's self-proclaimed Favoured Sinner has arrived for this main event contest, his first official title defense as the Favoured Saints Champion! Look at that get-up, Lance! He looks like he dropped down here from his steam-powered zeppelin, or something!

Lance:

Does he just wear this outfit anytime he's around Henry Keyes now?

DDK:

It would appear that way, Lance! Since their epic showdown months ago at DEFCON 2021, Rezin has seemingly embraced his identity as the steampunk "arch nemesis" to the Airship Pirate!

Reapers Magenta, Cyan, and Chartreuse, in their formal Reaper outfits, soon join the Favoured Saints Champion on the stage, and the group march down the rampway in unison with Rezin taking the lead, dramatically flourishing his arms around and hamming it up every way he can. They slide into the ring together and pop to their feet, forming a line and posing dramatically on one side of the ring while Keyes unflinchingly stands his ground on the other.

Both opponents stand across from each other in the ring. The capacity crowd around them is buzzing with anticipation. Darren Quimbey begins making the formal announcements.

Darren Quimbey:

Introducing first, the challenger... hailing from San Francisco, California, and weighing in at TWO hundred FORTY-

NINE POUNDS... he is the AIRSHIP PIRATE... HEEEEENNRRRYYYYY KEEEEYYEEEESSS!!

Another raucous chorus of cheers erupts as Keyes claps heartily and pumps his arms up for the crowd. Hearing the ovation rise a little more, he climbs to the second rope turnbuckle and yells something that the cameras would probably censor if they could pick up the audio, pumping his arms even more wildly and really riling the crowd up.

Darren Quimbey:

And the opponent... REAP-resenting the Kabal, and hailing from Indianapolis, Indiana... he weighs in at two-hundred and five pounds... he is the reigning FAVOURED SAINTS CHAMPION of DEFIANCE... the ESCAPE ARTIST.... RRREEZZZZIIIIINNNN!!!

To another loud and mixed reaction, Rezin raises the Favoured Saints Championship into the air, his crew of Reapers showing support with pats on his shoulders and back. Slater asks for the belt, but Rezin seems initially reluctant. He turns to his Reapers and delivers a message that the cameras pick up.

Rezin:

Execute order... SIXY-NINE.

Reaper Magenta:

At once, the three Reapers exit the ring and walk back up the rampway. Rezin watches them depart with a sinister chuckle and turns his attention back to Henry Keyes. There's something foreboding in his grin that causes Henry to pop an eyebrow.

DDK:

Looks like Rezin is uncharacteristically doing the honorable thing here by dismissing the presence of the Kabal from this match and giving his opponent the benefit of not having to worry about their interference!
