THE LUCKY SEVENS LUCKY GAUNTLET

The show kicks off right to Tom Morrow on the top of the ramp.

DDK:

We have a big-time match for the Unified Tag Team Champions and this could be a huge career-making moment for one lucky team if they can pull off the unthinkable and defeat the Lucky Sevens in this special matchup!

Lance:

And here comes Tom Morrow to explain the rules ... joy ...

The brains behind Better Future Talent Agency saunters around the stage.

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!!!

Tom Morrow:

Hey hey hey!!! We are doing Milwaukee a favor by holding a career-making match like the Lucky Sevens Lucky Lottery in this city that reeks of cheese and regret!

Morrow is looking at the back.

The same cheesy graphic that appeared on the DEFIA-Tron two weeks ago when it was first announced appears again.

Tom Morrow:

The Lucky Sevens Lucky Gauntlet! Instead of the usual Lottery you people have been blessed enough to see, you are going to see four different teams try and make history. If any one team in this gauntlet has horseshoes and four-leaf clovers shoved up their asses and has the luck to beat my guys, they will earn a Unified Tag Team Title match at DEFCON!!!

That announcement is cheered.

Tom Morrow:

But when the Lucky Sevens sweep this gauntlet easier than Better Future Talent Agency pulled off a three-match clean sweep in Madison Square Garden, Mason and Max will earn the right to handpick any opponent they want for DEFIANCE Wrestling's show of shows! Without further delay we save the best ... for first!

Morrow's finger is pointed at the entrance.

Slumped in the seat, a heap of blankets covering his legs, is a warped and weary Lord Nigel Tricklebush. His unkempt, thinning white hair screams “bed head” and dried saliva stains dot his crusty, dark suit jacket. The aged Mr. Barnaby smiles dumbly at the packed arena, slowly becoming aware of where he is.

Darren Quimbey:

Accompanied to the ring by his handler, Lord Nigel Tricklebush... and HIS handler, Mr. Barnaby... from Parts Untold and weighing in tonight at 270 pounds...

Alpha marches onto the stage, shirtless and dripping wet. A blood-red wound of clumpy paint on his hirsute chest marks where his heart might be, both hands weep red paint in drips and drops. Snorting and snapping, Corvo ignores Lord Nigel & Barnaby both, stomping towards the ring.

Darren Quimbey:

CALL HIM... CORVO... ALPHA!

In one motion, Alpha leaps up to the apron and steps through the ropes to a cascade of disquiet from the Milwaukee fans. In the background, we see Barnaby carefully wheeling Lord Nigel down the ramp. As the house lights slowly return to normal, the camera catches Sgt. Safety double checking that a corner’s turnbuckles and their padded covers are all attached properly.

DDK:

Uh, look alive, Sarge!

Seemingly critical of how the ring crew had affixed the top turnbuckle pad in place, Safety scribbles another quick note on his clipboard before his attention is finally stolen by the Faithful gesticulating all around him. Placing the clipboard on the top turnbuckle, Sgt. Safety works to remove the orange ear plugs from his ears, squinting with confusion. What’s with these people? He turns around just a moment too late.

DDK:

DAGGER-LIKE SUPERKICK BY CORVO ALPHA!

Sgt. Safety’s bright yellow hardhat sails over the top rope and loudly rattles to the ringside floor. Sent careening into the corner, Safety’s flailing arm sends his clipboard airborne across the ring. The two tiny ear plugs roll across the canvas.

Dropping to his knees, Referee Benny Doyle checks on Safety... but DEFIANCE’s Chief Inspector is somehow quick to try to pull himself up the ropes and to his feet.

Lance:

I think Safety turned his head at the last moment! That hard hat of his absorbed some of that crushing superkick!

An inset instant replay shows that Lance’s analysis is spot-on as usual. Across the ring, Alpha lies in wait. Looking equal parts impatient and focused, the monster shoots a look at Lord Nigel who holds up a pale, bony hand at his charge. Corvo seethes, fit to burst.

Having coached and consulted Safety back to his feet, Doyle asks once more if the Prince of Proper Procedure is ready. To which Safety offers a curt nod of his head, blinking repeatedly.

DING DING

Nigel drops his hand to his lap, visibly relieved, and Alpha pounces.

DDK:

Sgt. Safety just WALKS into a stiff forearm from Alpha! And, oh no, Lance... this one might be over before it’s truly begun!

Alpha mounts Safety in the corner, laying in thunderous forearms and elbows. The Faithful hate it and Doyle works to push Corvo off of Safety. But instead of relenting, Alpha instead shifts gears and jerks Safety upright and OVER his head in a release suplex. Crawling after his quarry, Alpha quickly pulls the Sarge back upright before hurling him into the corner.

Lance:

Smothering. Unrefined. Savage. The ferocity of Corvo Alpha is on full display. This is how he has survived. This style of bloodthirsty, unrelenting guerilla combat is how he has THRIVED. I think we saw it with Dex Joy these past months... if you aren't 100% healthy, 100% focused, 100% at your best, 100% of the time, you are a target in Corvo Alpha's world. And if you're a target of this man...

Shot briefly cuts to Lord Nigel in his chair, head resting on his hands dramatically. He lifts his head, eyes alight as Alpha bludgeons Safety in the corner.

Lance:

Or this man...

Cutting back to the ring, Alpha leans into a forearm across the jaw of Safety. Doyle offers a warning and Alpha takes a step back.

Lance:

You're almost certainly in grave, grave danger.

Alpha spits on the canvas, measures Safety, then charges at him in the corner.

At the very last possible moment, Sgt. Safety slumps down, pulling the top turnbuckle pad down on the way, exposing the hard steel beneath it!

DDK:

ALPHA HIT THAT CORNER! Was that turnbuckle exposed?! Did Sgt. Safety do that?!

Lance:

I can't imagine he meant to do that but... he DID notice it was loose before the match started!

The Faithful are unglued by now, screaming encouragement to a still-dazed Safety Inspector. The camera follows him as he crawls across the canvas... finally stumbling across the clipboard lying on the mat, pencil hanging from an attached string. A stupified Sgt. Safety scrawls crudely on the clipboard, muttering under his breath.

Sgt. Safety:

...someones gotta fix that turnbuckle...

Mr. Barnaby, following the baying of Lord Nigel, wheels his master around the ring, better to shout orders to Corvo, half unconscious in the corner.

DDK:

Corvo Alpha is DOWN!

Benny Doyle is quick to tie the turnbuckle pad back in place as the temperature rises in the arena.

DDK:

And if Sgt. Safety has a chance... ANY chance... he has to make the most of this moment!

SGT. SAFETY! CLAP CLAP, CLAP CLAP CLAP!

SGT. SAFETY! CLAP CLAP, CLAP CLAP CLAP!

SGT. SAFETY! CLAP CLAP, CLAP CLAP CLAP!

Lance:

What a win this would be?! Absolutely HISTORIC! Can Sgt. Safety pull this off?!

The floor camera captures a small trickle of blood streaming down the forehead of Alpha as he slowly rises to his knees. Just a few feet away, simmering in his wheelchair, Trickelbush balls his gawky hands into scrawny fists. He screams unintelligibly at his ward, eyes and veins bulging.

On the other side of the ring, Sgt. Safety rises from one knee to both feet. He takes more than a moment to inspect his person, ensuring that none of his known appendages has suffered a grievous injury. Generally content with the results of his self-assessment, Sgt. Safety takes another solemn moment to salute the midwest fans. Showered with love, the good Sargeant finishes the salute motion with practiced crispness before sprinting towards Alpha in the opposite corner.

DDK:

RUNNING CRASH PAD!! NO!!

Lance:

Alpha CATCHES Safety!

Alpha snarls as he steps forward, flashing eyes meeting Nigel's; wheelside at ringside. Gritting his broken yellow teeth, Corvo NAILS an assertive fallaway slam!

Lance:

A powerful statement SILENCING the soul of the Wisconsin Faithful!

Nigel squawks over his shoulder at Mr. Barnaby who, with the grace and poise of a dying slug, eventually moves to ferry his master towards the rampway.

Alpha wrenches Sgt. Safety first to his knees, another jerk bringing him to his feet. In one action, he lays a knee into Safety's gut, then spins him around. And just like that, it's over.

DDK:

Corvo Alpha locking in the Alpha Clutch! Grapevines Safety and brings him to the mat!

Almost immediately, Sgt. Safety taps.

DING DING DING

Doyle calls for the bell.... And when Alpha ignores it, he starts barking at the beast.

DDK:

Get off of him!

Frighteningly quick, Safety is no longer resisting or responsive and in due time, Alpha has lost interest. He releases his victim and slithers out of the ring, not allowing Doyle to raise his arm.

Lance:

Let this be a warning to Masked Violator #1: Corvo Alpha is as determined and as deadly as ever.

Darren Quimbey:

The winner of this bout... by way of submission... CALL HIM... CORVO! ALPHA!

Barnaby has wheeled Lord Nigel to the top of the entryway and it's there that Corvo meets them. Rancorous and murmuring to himself, Lord Nigel jabs a skinny arm towards the backstage.

Pausing for a moment to slowly and deliberately eye the Faithful, nonplussed, Corvo Alpha finally heeds his governor and follows Tricklebush & Co. backstage.

THIS SEGMENT HAS NO CURSE WORDS

It's DEFTv 183.

It's the DEFIANCE backstage interview area.

It's Jamie Sawyers present to ask the hard-hitting questions!

Jamie Sawyers:

Ladies and gentlemen, I'm Jamie Sawyers and these last few shows before we get to DEFCON are often nothing short of memorable. And the person I have with me at this time hopes to claim his very first championship in DEFIANCE... THE championship in DEFIANCE. Introducing at this time... the #1 Contender to the FIST of DEFIANCE, Alvaro de Vargas and his manager, BFTA's owner, Tom Morrow!

Morrow walks onto the set first in a sleek dark blue Brooks Brothers suit. Behind him, Alvaro de Vargas is in ring gear for his match with Scrow later in the evening.

Jamie Sawyers:

Tom, Alvaro...

ADV swipes the microphone right from Sawyers' hands! He inches closer to the interviewer and snarls.

Alvaro de Vargas:

Get the fuck out of my sight.

Tom Morrow:

You heard the next champ, Talking DEF Head #65. Occupy your time elsewhere.

Sawyers departs quickly.

Tom Morrow:

Walk with us, Camera Guy. Let me tell you a story.

The two walk down the halls.

Tom Morrow:

It wasn't maybe more than a couple years ago when Alvaro de Vargas wasn't welcome in these halls. He was trying to fight for a spot on this roster with some big dumbass who doesn't even work here anymore. DEFIANCE decided to keep Alvaro in BRAZEN. The talent was there. They knew it... but they didn't like his attitude. Said he was too volatile. Too dangerous. I knew right from the jump when I met him that when I started Better Future Talent Agency, this man was going to be our crown jewel!

ADV walks not far behind his manager.

Tom Morrow:

Unlike anyone else around here, I MAKE diamonds. I did it with Team HOSS and they're still riding off the years I put in with them today. I made The Lucky Sevens main event attractions and two-time Unified Tag Team Champions! The reason that Main Event Monsters Make Main Event Money! Nathan Eye's career has been restarted under me and he's undefeated since coming back!

Morrow points a thumb at his client.

Tom Morrow:

And the biggest of those stars is the monster you see before you. He literally came up from nothing to something. Unlike our current FIST Lindsay Troy, ADV has far more time ahead of him than behind him and in two years, I put him right where he belongs... the main event of DEFCON.

Supernova Cubana grins.

Tom Morrow:

Lindsay Troy might not have taken a loss in quite some time. She's surrounded herself with some of the most powerful and dangerous people here to keep her afloat... but the one thing she fails to realize in her time as champion is the fact that the future is coming a lot sooner than she thinks. She can try and delay it. She can try and deny it with an eye roll or a dated joke, but I know the truth. This isn't the same Lindsay Troy that was a pain in my ass seven years ago...

Morrow stops in his tracks to turn to Alvaro.

Tom Morrow:

She's desperate. That Lindsay Troy took on the world by herself... THIS Lindsay Troy? It took five of Vae Victis to help her keep that title at DEFIANCE ROAD.

The BFTA figurehead looks up.

Tom Morrow:

I hope she makes it past JJ Dixon tonight because Alvaro here? He wants that distinction. He wants to be the one to take that title from her smarmy-ass hands and knock that stupid snarky smile off of her face for good when she loses everything she plotted to hold onto for so long. Vae Victis think they run things now...-

"Wow."

Tom Morrow stops his monologue as the FIST of DEFIANCE and the Silver Lining walk up to him and Alvaro. Lindsay Troy has the biggest belt in DEF around her waist while Sonny wears a condescending smirk.

Lindsay Troy:

So this is what it's like to be both loud and wrong.

She looks at Sonny.

Lindsay Troy:

Have you ever experienced such a thing?

Sonny Silver:

The former? All the time. The latter... eh. I'm almost, always eventually right.

Sonny marches towards Morrow. ADV gets ready to throw down.

Sonny Silver:

Nah, firebug, my fight's with THIS fucking asshole. You paint quite a portrait, Tommy Boy. But the part in YOUR story that you left out is that while the rest of this roster is playing checkers... Vae Victis kicks the fucking board over because DEFIANCE is OURS. Not yours. And this is not a game. That title. The Southern Heritage Title. Favoured Saints Championship. That belongs to us. Because spineless little gamers, geeks, thugs, needs, cowards and brutes have no business leading this company.

Morrow can't help but laugh... and that irks Sonny a little.

Sonny Silver:

What, you got a comeback? Jerk store ran out of me?

The smile is a little bigger.

Tom Morrow:

For now, they do, Sonshine. But I'm absolutely right. You have the gold, but I meant exactly what I said. You have the titles. You say you are all here to lead DEFIANCE, but the only thing you're doing is proving you're no better than me. At least me and Alvaro can admit we're complete assholes who will do whatever it takes to win.

Alvaro de Vargas turns to Lindsay.

Alvaro de Vargas:

Es verdad, pendeja. I don't give a shit about trying to "better" DEFIANCE. I care about taking what's YOURS and making it MINE. Taking out legends is pretty fun and it might be nice to start a collection.

Lindsay Troy:

Take a swing then, big guy. I could use a warm-up before my sure-to-be Five Star Tillinghast Classic against JJ Dixon.

She sneers at Morrow.

Lindsay Troy:

Or is your babysitter not gonna let you cross the street again?

ADV is strongly considering it again... but Morrow, true to form, keeps him back.

Tom Morrow:

No... tonight, your fight is with that stupid bird-brain, Scrow. That's what DEFCON is for! Trust me, you're gonna take that title from her but this ain't happening tonight.

Alvaro growls at her, but he knows his manager is right.

Lindsay Troy:

Just like I thought. A whole lotta bluster from a blow-hard and a never-was. You might be good at managing tag champs, Junior...y'know, when they can be bothered to actually fight instead of going through sham "Lotteries" and "Gauntlets..." but when it comes to helping your charges get singles gold, you've always come up just a little....

She motions at the height discrepancy between herself and Morrow.

Lindsay Troy:

...short.

The comment makes ADV jump again, but once more, Morrow has to do his best to keep him contained. He stands in front of de Vargas and snags his arm.

Tom Morrow:

Alvaro, NO! Don't let them bait you! That's EXACTLY what they want!

Supernova Cubana growls and goes eye to eye with the champ one more time. Sonny looks ready to fight if need be, but Alvaro snarls at the Queen and storms off down the hall with Morrow following behind, more focused on his match with Scrow for the time.

JJ Dixon is wearing a floor-length robe with the sequined jewels in the same shade as the old-school Milwaukee Brewers uniform, with “JJ” in interlocking golds of Brewers yellow.

JJ Dixon:

Allright allright allright! Six months ago, nobody knew who I was. Six months ago, I was on my way out the door! Six months ago, I was just a guy. But now? Now I am THAT! DUDE! This ain't local placating. I'm Giannis in rasslin' boots... except with a jump shot.

JJ pantomimes a jump shot.

JJ Dixon:

There's nothing I can't do. There are only things I haven't done yet. Tonight's the biggest chance of my life. Nobody's giving me a chance. But you know what? People like us, we like that feeling. Because there's no better feeling than TAKING what you want when nobody's giving you anything. And tonight, even with a banged up shoulder? Well, as Mill-ee-waul-kaay's hometown heroes Laverne and Shirley sang -- We're gonna make our dreams come true... Doing it our way! Your baby boy's about to win the FIST of DEFIANCE!

Teri looks resplendent with even more, err, defiant confidence than ever. Her hair is freshly dyed silver, complete with silver flecks of jewels, a light shade of silver in her eye shadow, dangling silver earrings, a silver necklace with a blue and a yellow jewel at the bottom to match JJ, and a silver Gucci dress tailored to exemplify her “va-va-va-voom” Joanie from Mad Men curves, along with a long flowing black shawl.

Teri Metlon:

“LT”... For some reason, you think I care about you being my brother's eighth wife for six weeks 20 years ago. The only thing I remember about you is how we had to burn the crab lice from the sheets after your romp with him in my family's Nantucket getaway. The reason why I even think about you for more than five seconds of my day is because you have something I want.

Teri coolly blows on her nails and then smirks as she balls her hand into a fist.

Teri Metlon:

I have a habit and a history of taking things I want -- be it Tom Morrow's expired AAA membership card or a wedding ring from a French viscount who wrote his kids out of the will at my request. Now, I still don't know exactly why you and Sonny Boy Silver acted like a bunch of weirdos and hung out in my Rolls Royce for several hours. If you think we're some Sgt. Safety walkover so you can flex your muscles and act big time, well, you've got that all wrong. You've never been in the ring with an athlete the caliber of The Special Attraction and you've never dealt with a scoundrel such as myself. Or you think you're going to cut us down to size and take the wind out of our sails? Well, that's not going to happen. I just strutted downtown today and the Fonzie statue came to life just to pass out when I batted my eyes at him. Your Uncut Gems are the hottest act this company has seen in years.

JJ fans himself off.

Teri Metlon:

Now, Sonny Boy Silver, I have a receipt from you for sullyng my Rolls Royce with your bottom-shelf, T J Maxx-brand cologne. I think it's time you lowered your tone and cut the word count in your introductions so it matches your place in this industry. You're a second-rate trainer and a first-class parasite. I'm going to teach you a lesson in Managerial Excellence 101. I'd suggest you take notes. JJ? He's got it taken care of in the ring. Me? Counting the cards and rigging the dice is what I do best. Tonight, I'm not taking the casino chips. I'm taking the whole damn casino. We're walking home with the one shade of jewel every woman wants to wear most... and the shade The Silver Vixen looks best in... and that's gold.

JJ makes the "I've got the belt" gesture.

Teri Metlon:

The name of this promotion is DEFIANCE. But after tonight, everyone in the world is going to call it something else.

Teri then pauses and turns to the side, placing her hand on her right hip as she does, and her dress creeps up more than just a bit. JJ does a double finger gun over her head when she says it.

Teri Metlon:

MINE!

There's a buzz in the crowd. Everyone knows what's coming next.

Teri Metlon:

You don't know the hell that awaits you two tonight. And everyone assembled here tonight in Milwaukee knows what I say is true. Because -

The DEFiatron fades off and the spotlight comes on at ringside and the crowd shouts it with Teri as Your Uncut Gems appear live and in person.

Teri Melton: [and the entire arena]

TERI MELTON! IS READY! FOR HER CLOSEUP!

Teri stands on the apron with her hands held dramatically high. The spotlight shines off of her hair and dress and necklace to create a visual aura around her, and one she naturally carries. JJ winces as he holds the middle rope with his left arm but points to the crowd as he sings a song from Milwaukee's favorite hometown band The Violent Femmes.

JJ Dixon:

Let me go on... like a blister in the sun... Let me go on... Because Uncut Gems I know you're the ones!

JJ lets out a woop as he hops over the top rope but still holds his left shoulder in pain. He slides off his elegant robe and there's heavy bandaging on his left shoulder.

FIST of DEFIANCE: LINDSAY TROY (C) vs. JJ DIXONDDK:

JJ Dixon and Teri Melton have made their way to the ring and we're just about set to begin our main event of the evening.

Lance:

JJ has looked good in his last few matches but he's coming into this contest with an injured shoulder, and when you're facing an athlete the caliber of Lindsay Troy, that's as good as waving a red flag in front of a bull. Let's kick it over to DQ for the intros.

Darren Quimbey:

Ladies and gentlemen, this match is for the FIST of DEFIANCE, as to be supervised by Referee Mark Shields! First introducing the challenger... representing Your Uncut Gems and accompanied by his manager, Teri Melton... now residing in Hollywood, California... this is "The Special Attraction" J! J! DIXON!!!

The crowd cheers.

UNCUT GEMS!

UNCUT GEMS!

UNCUT GEMS!

DDK:

Not a lot of people are giving JJ Dixon a chance this evening, even with his rapid improvement over these past few months. And while we don't know for certain why Lindsay Troy apparently hand-selected him for a title defense tonight, we do know she is offering title chances against people she no doubt deems, well, easy competition.

Lance:

At the last DEFtv in Boston, we saw the Queen of the Ring not even flinch when Teri Melton got in her face and didn't wipe away her smirk when Your Uncut Gems called her bluff. There's no doubt they understand JJ's a superb athlete. But you also can't help but think they aren't too worried about him tonight.

DDK:

Was it a bluff, though? Seems to me like the Gems walked right into Vae Victis' trap, no matter what kind of spin Teri Melton's putting on it.

Lance:

I guess we'll find out soon enough, partner.

The lights in the arena cut out and a white spotlight shines down on the stage. Sonny Silver, in his sharp black suit, stands in the glow. He lifts his left hand into the air and his OLD SKOOL MIC~! is lowered into it.

Sonny Silver:

Since you used up all our airtime on your shitty intro, I'll keep mine short and sweet. You're an old whore, Teri. JJ Dixon is talented but he's dumber than a sack of bricks for hitching his ride to an old nag who hogs his spotlight and is two steps away from the glue factory.

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!

Sonny Silver:

You boo, but you cheese-curd sucking trash lords are too fucking stupid to see it. But that's fine. Vae Victis is here to show you the way. Introducing, the reigning, defending, INDOMITABLE FIST of DEFIANCE! Gracing you with her presence despite you not doing a damn thing to deserve it. She is Your Lady of the Hour! The Ace and The Silver Lining slip in between the ropes and Troy shrugs out of her coat, which has amassed quite the collection of ghoulish visages since she started down this golden path over a year and a half ago. She removes the title from her waist and hands it over to the timekeeper, bypassing Mark Shields completely.

Lindsay confers with Sonny one last time before the Vae Victis advocate takes a position on the outside of the ring. JJ remains in his corner. Teri stands on the apron with a concerned look on her face. JJ is trying to stretch out his shoulder but he's shaking his head, and even has tears in his eyes. Teri's face is almost despondent. She looks at Mark and makes the "timeout" gesture, as JJ remains in the corner facing her, now grimacing in pain. Mark Shields directs Lindsay to go back to her corner.

DDK:

Oh, this looks like an absolute shame. JJ's shoulder has been hurting him for weeks now, especially after that dramatic 60 minute Ironman match at DEFIANCE Road. He has been so excited for this opportunity these past two weeks!

Mark Shields goes over to the Vae Victus corner as Lindsay is now getting impatient. Sonny is on the apron with him, too. He's explaining to them that JJ has a hurt shoulder.

Lindsay Troy:

Tell him to either rub some dirt on it and fight me or throw in the towel and forfeit. Let's go.

Mark now walks over to Your Uncut Gems, and he's explaining to Teri and JJ what the Champ just told him. JJ nods his head in acceptance. Teri looks incredibly angry.

Teri Melton:

Well, Mark, I want to tell YOU something!

She jabs her finger in Mark's chest. And then looks across the ring at Vae Victis before letting out a gigantic starlet's smile and back into Mark's eyes.

Teri Melton:

Last night... as I laid in your arms... was the best sex of my entire life!

DDK:

Wait, WHAT???

Teri Melton:

And after we win tonight... I can't wait to have even more!

Teri then wraps her hands around Mark's neck and rams her tongue down his throat hard, as the crowd sees this and starts gasping. Teri whips her head free from his lips and now wickedly smiles at Vae Victis, as Mark returns a wicked glare at them, too! JJ still has the shoulder bandage on, but it's clear that it's in shape.

The Queen's expression quickly turns dark as Sonny Silver's eyes bulge. The boom mic starts to pick up him saying, "Are you fucking kidding me?" but before the whole sentence is uttered, Teri - not Mark - points to the timekeeper.

Darren Quimbey:

According to a pre-match agreement made between Teri Melton and Mark Shields... and along with the powerful signature of a public notary located at the nearest UPS store location... Lindsay Troy will relinquish the title to JJ Dixon if she loses via intentional countout!

DDK:

Is that...is that legal?

Lance:

Well, it's certainly a first. I don't think the notoriously corrupt Mark Shields cares about any ramifications from Oscar Burns. He has a powerful position in the National Referee's Union, which has allowed him to act unethically for years!

You have to think that Lindsay has Mark's pre-match romantic interlude with Teri Melton lingering in the back of her head anytime Mark makes a pinfall attempt. But earlier, Sonny's attempted bullying of Mark about this unique situation almost trapped her in an inadvertent quick roll-up.

But Lindsay immediately scissors her legs around JJ's chest and her arms around his neck in what is widely known as a Pentagon Choke.

DDK:

Sacer Esto! She's trying to strangle the life out of the upstart, insurgent JJ Dixon!

Lindsay is screaming as she's wrenching in the hold. But she's also wobbling a bit on her upper back to do so.

Lance:

You can see Lindsay is not quite using all of her upper back, possibly because she's worried about a quick count from Mark Shields!

JJ has his hand positioned like he might tap, but instead, he uses Lindsay's momentum to flip forward and onto his knees as she keeps the hold.
