DDK:

Welcome, one and all! Acts of DEFIANCE 2023 is on the airwaves now! I'm your play-by-play commentator "Downtown" Darren Keebler and with me as always, adding some color to our commentary... Lance Warner!

Lance:

And WHAT a show we have tonight! Six matches, including two MAJOR title matches bookending our shows! Our main event promises to be GRUESOME! The longest-reigning Southern Heritage Champion, FOUR-HUNDRED FORTY-EIGHT DAYS AND COUNTING... will go one-on-one against a true ghost from his past, CORVO ALPHA!

DDK:

And that's not all! One of the most beloved stars on the roster, Conor Fuse, looks to take on one of our most hated in Arthur Pleasant! Which team among Better Future Talent Agency will be Tom Morrow's chosen team? Will it be the former two-time Unified Tag Team Champions and Main Event Monsters called The Lucky Sevens? Or will the collective young talent of two of BRAZEN's former top-tier standouts, Nathan Eye and Declan Alexander aka M4NTRA shine?!

Lance:

Titaness and Dan Leo James fight on behalf of Uriel Cortez, who can't be here tonight, to take on the men that attacked Cortez's mother and got him suspended, The Devil's Circus?! Who will win out in the battle of former two-time Unified Tag Team Champion Search Party Cyrus and the crafty veteran, David Fox? Will that walkie-talkie get fixed?

DDK:

But we kick off tonight's show with a rematch from DEFCON 2022, with the roles now reversed and with the highly-coveted Unified Tag Team Championships on the line! Flex Appeal look to finally put their one-time teammates and friends, The Pop Culture Phenoms, in the rearview mirror! Can the team of Flex and Klein hold on to the gold or will the Pop Culture Phenoms reign supreme in the division once again?

UNIFIED TAG TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS: FLEX APPEAL (C) vs. PCP

DDK:

Faithful, WELCOME, TO ACTS OF DEFIANCE! Our opening contest is for the DEFIANCE Unified Tag Team Championship!

A match graphic appears over the DEFiatron, and the Faithful Pop. It's animated for a moment and then freeze frame, before clips of previous described moments.

Lance:

That's right. Three months ago, Flex in a Box were able to best both the current BRAZEN tag team champions, Weighted Grade, as well as the landmark last match in Brock Newbludd's story career. We all thought that Flex and Klein would appeal to the goodness in their own hearts, but it seems Flex's only appeal so far has been grandiose merchandising.

DDK:

Kyle Shields, that annoying little gnat of a relation to Mark Shields. WHO! Mind you, is absolutely the worst referee ever, no question, hands down, no argument.

Lance:

I hope he's listening so he knows and might feel bad about it.

DDK:

Whatever reason, Kyle has somehow charmed Flex Kruger and has influence over the Lord Perfection of Pectoral Punishment. Like a Devil on one shoulder, Kyle Shields demands Flex exploit not only his brand, but his friendship with his friends for further personal and financial glory.

Lance:

And, on the other shoulder, is that sometimes awkward, always good natured, Angel in a Box, who's been kind of pushed to the side by both Flex and Kyle since winning the tag team titles.

DDK:

I can't imagine Klein appreciates having a spotlight only to be pushed to the edge of it.

Lance:

Meanwhile, the D and Elise had one hell of a banger with the Lucky Sevens to earn this shot. The D and Elise see Kyle Shields for the parasite he is, and I think they have every intent of extracting Shields from their lives.

DDK:

They might not be able to focus too much on Kyle, Lance. Even though it's their friends, D and Elise, they want to become 3 time tag team champs.

Lance:

Thankfully, they won't become 70 time champs by Christmas... but that's only for Flex's obstinance. Let's head to ringside.

Darren Quimbey:

This next match, is scheduled for one fall, and a thirty minute time limit. It is for the DEFIANCE Unified Tag Team championships!

The Faithful pop... but it doesn't last long as "FLEX APPEAL" appears on the DEFiatron.

This video, however, has a lot more Kyle Shields, and in fact, plays more like an infomercial than a tron video.

Kyle Shields:

Have you or someone you know ever been too weak to pick up a car?

BOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!

Kyle Shields:

I know you have. This is Kyle Shields here on behalf of FLEX Branding, LLC and you don't have to be weak, pathetic, mouth-breathing, basement-dwelling parasites who don't shower before coming to live events. Instead you can be something more. Why reek when instead you can FLEX?

The instrumental for "Flexicution" begins to play over a montage of Flex Kruger working out on various FLEX branded pieces of equipment Pumping FLEX iron. Wearing FLEX apparel. Chugging down a FLEX shake.

Kyle Shields:

Why live your life trapped in a box of loserdom...

The scene cuts to Klein attempting to involve himself in the commercial before getting frustrated and throwing down his free weights.

Kyle Shields:

When you can FLEX your way out?

Shields comes up from behind Klein and steals the box off of his head, sending the Man In The Box into a frustrated scream, chasing Shields across the "set" which appears to be a free gym at a local hotel. Again in the darkness the FLEX APPEAL logo appears on the DEFIATron before the music kicks in again.

♪ "Flexicution" by Logic ♪

The Philly Faithful do what they do best here in Philadelphia and that's boo the paint off the walls as Kyle Shield leads the way out to the ring under a sea of red lights and white strobes. Behind him Flex Kruger's pecs dance to the music behind a pair of FLEX branded shades while holding a FLEX shake. Then, behind him, Klein steps out into the arena as a walking FLEX billboard. Headband. Shirt. Wrist bands. Tearaway pants. Socks. Shoes. Shake weights. No box in sight. Klein doesn't make eye contact with the camera and snarls as Kyle Shields celebrates his new advertisement.

Darren Quimbey:

Introducing first... hailing from FLEXington, USA. Weighing in at a combined weight of 538 pounds. They are the DEFIANCE Unified. Tag. Team. Champions. "Lord Paramount of Pectoral Perfection" FLEX Kruger. Joshua "Never Skips Leg Day" Klein. FLEX AAAAAAAAAAPEAL!

DDK:

Did he just say "Joshua Klein"?

Lance:

That's what I thought I heard. You have to admit the man that we see walking down to the ring right now only barely resembles the man we've got to know as Klein over the years. His trademark box is gone. Seemingly exiled, and what is left is a walking infomercial that looks ready to kill.

DDK:

The fans are a bit confused Lance. They really wanted to cheer for Klein, considering he's from Philadelphia!

Lance:

But if he's been corrupted by the promises of a conman, I don't think there's a way these Faithful could cheer.

DDK:

You know, now that I look closer, with these lights Lance, it's hard to see if Klein is raging with intensity or frustration. Either way it appears that Kyle Shields has finally succeeded in molding Joshua Klein into his image of what he should be. A monster who can destroy anyone who walks into the ring... and can sell lots of merch.

Lance:

Let's be honest, he cares mostly about the merch.

Inside the ring now Flex Kruger poses into the hard cam with the tag team title draped over his bulging bicep. Beside him Kyle Shields unfortunately has a microphone while Klein paces in the background. Before Kyle Shields can talk.

"WE - WANT - KLEIN!"

Kyle Shields looks around, and pats Klein on the back, and then points to him. The Faithful pop.

Kyle Shields:

SEE?! THEY LOVE FLEX APPEAL!

Boos. Kyle looks confused. So does Flex, who just has his pecs dance.

Kyle Shields:

♪ "Live For The Night" by Krewella ♪

DDK:

The arena lights cut as two spotlights start wildly searching around the Philadelphia arena for the Pop Culture Phenoms. Eventually, they fall upon the entrance stage, and each member stands on opposite sides, lit up by their own spotlight. Elise looks up with her trademark LED glasses saying "BUY OUR MERCH INSTEAD", while the D stands with his back to the ring, one fist raised high, held just like the DEFIANCE Fist logo.

The two meet at the top of the ramp, and the arena lights come up. The music dims as Elise proceeds to pull a microphone from hammerspace.

Elise Ares:

Hey bby, we're gonna need you to take several seats. Mmmmkay? The adults are talking.

The D:

Darren, go ahead and take the night off, your services are not needed. But you! KYLE SHIELDS! You stole my best friend, you stole MORE than enough TV time hawking your hackneyed hairbrained idiotic schemes on the Faithful who, honestly, are way too smart to fall for your shit.

Elise Ares:

The world ain't made of Scotty Flashes Kyle!

The Queen of Sports Entertainment Style pauses in deep contemplation at her last comment.

Elise Ares:

Well... I mean...

The D:

Kyle looks down, slightly disappointed.

Kyle Shields:

But bro. It's Come Flex.

The D:

No! No sexual related puns. That's MY bag. Elise?

Elise Ares:

Yes D.

The D:

What are we going to do tonight?

Elise Ares:

Well, bby, I've heard there is a silent disco going on tonight that sounds really fun. Except it's awfully peopley and that's big ick. But if everything goes right, maybe we'll just get white girl wasted and make out with the Rocky statue?

There's a bit of laughter from the Philly faithful.

The D:

I meant before that.

Elise Ares:

Oh. We're TOTES going to become your UNO DOS TRES TIME Unified Tag Team Champions! OBVS!

The D:

AND NOBODY MAKES DICK BASED PUNS EXCEPT ME! NOW! GIMME BACK MY BEST FRIEND!

The D throws the microphone down onto the ramp as Elise and The D sprint toward ringside to a roar from the Faithful. They slide into the ring, and Flex catches Elise just as she gets up with a clothesline that sends her tumbling back outside. The D reaches out and pokes Flex's eyes, and goes for an Irish whip. Meanwhile, Joshua Klein steps out onto the apron and grabs a tag rope. Flex reverses, and then yells at Klein as he begins taking off the merch he's covered in, "What are you doing!? Leave that on!" before hitting a picturesque backdrop on the D. The D clutches his back in exaggerated pain as Flex doesn't let up. Carla tries to get in between them to check them for weapons, but Flex won't stop stomping the D in the corner.

Carla throws up her hands and rushes to a neutral corner, signaling the timekeeper for the bell.

DING DING

DDK:

Flex Kruger asserted himself early here before the bell even rang, Lance. Stomping away... and now choking him by placing his boot across his neck on the bottom turnbuckle.

Lance:

The Lord Paramount of Pec- whatever, is using that massive frame of his to shield Carla from what's going on in the corner.

Finally Carla gets a good vantage point of the illegal choke and begins to count all the way until five when Kruger finally lets up. On the other side Elise has made her way back to the apron, finally just getting the opportunity to take off her jacket and toss her LED sunglasses into the crowd. Flex slaps Joshua on the chest and tags in his partner. Joshua Klein steps between the ropes and into the ring, laying a huge overhand chop on the exposed chest of The D being held in the corner by Kruger. Kyle Shields hands Flex a FLEX shake and begins massaging his calves from the outside as Joshua Klein rams his shoulder into the midsection of The D repeatedly in the corner. He lifts The D up onto his shoulder and Netflix's Most Wanted slips off the back end. Joshua Klein turns around to be met with a dropkick that he swats away.

DDK:

There are quite possibly no two wrestlers here in DEFIANCE who know each other better than The D, Derek Edwards, and Joshua Klein.

Lance:

Literal decades of working together between promotions and wrestling schools, Darren. I can't imagine there is anything one of them can pull out of their hat that the other hasn't already seen before.

The Man Who Never Skips Leg Day grabs the D as he's getting up from the missed dropkick and shoots him off the ropes. Joshua Klein ducks his head early and the D flips over Klein again, landing on his feet. Joshua immediately spins with a discus lariat, which D low bridges under. The former Box Man uses the position of the right arm clothesline to land back first onto the D's bridge with an elbow, but the D rolls out of the way and Joshua Klein eats the canvas. D goes for a quick leg drop but Joshua sits up to avoid the blow, and then turns and smashes a D with a quick elbow shot into a pin.

One.

Elise charges in and kicks Klein in the back of the head. Flex and Kyle Shields protest, as Klein reaches down and locks the D into a rear chinlock, knee digging into his back.

DDK:

And this is where Joshua... it's so weird saying. I think I'm just going to say Klein from now on.

Lance:

Old habits die hard Darren.

DDK:

Whatever you call them, Flex in a Box, Joshua, Flex Appeal need to slow the pace, wear out their opponents, and wait for them to make a mistake.

Lance:

And where able, use their power to make sure the resilient Phenoms don't turn this into a marathon. Because that would be bad for these brutes.

The D wildly throws his arms around, and so Joshua Klein releases the chin and grabs both arms, turning the maneuver into a surfboard. Flex claps from the apron as Elise yells at Kyle on the outside.

Lance:

You'll notice, as the D was struggling, he was able to slip his feet out as Joshua Klein adjusted the surfboard, giving him a bit of leverage.

Indeed, D is able to use this to stand, turning the surfboard into a standing dual arm lock. D cries out in pain as Joshua Klein uses his size advantage to twerk the hold, but this causes him to lurch forward and then flip, catching Joshua under the jaw with a kick. The D then rolls again and dives, tagging in Elise. Who immediately jumps up onto the top rope and soars across the ring and nails Joshua right between the eyes with Amethystation!

RAAAAAAAAAAAH!

After landing the move Ares kips up and slaps Flex Kruger across the face. The official mascot of FLEX Apparel tries to push his way into the ring only to be stopped by Carla Ferrari and Elise flips him off before turning around to catch Joshua Klein just getting up to his feet with...

Lance:

Can I do it?

DDK:

D— sure, fine.

Lance:

DA DA DA DA DA DICK PUNCHAAAAAAAAAAAA!

Kyle Shields joins Flex Kruger up on the apron throwing an absolute tantrum as Elise then pushes the emasculated Joshua Klein shoulder-first into his own corner where he strikes the steel post between the second and third turnbuckles. Flex Kruger reaches out past Carla to tag himself in and it's seen as he goes to step into the ring, but doesn't seen because Ferrari is in his way Ares running over towards Joshua Klein, jumping up onto his back and then soccer kicking Kruger right in the face sending him falling backwards onto the concrete floor outside of the ring.

DDK:

Flex tags himself in!

Lance:

And now he's out!

Kyle Shields runs over at Ares while he's still on the apron and she's still on Joshua's back. He takes a swipe at her feet and FACE of DEFIANCE leaps over the swipe and lands on the top rope in a balancing act with cat-like agility. Pissed off, Shields charges her again but Ares again jumps over his attempt and this time lands on the top rope in a seated position before flipping backwards into the ring and hitting Shields with a backflip kick on her way sending him to the outside as well. Directly into Flex Kruger's arms who just got back up to his feet.

DDK:

The agility of Elise Ares never ceases to amaze me!

Lance:

Or the Faithful! Listen to them, Darren!

The Philly Faithful are in a frenzy as the fanatical flyer flashes a photogenic hair flip before frantically running fast across Philadelphia. Flex Kruger places Kyle Shields back onto the floor and looks up just in time to watch the Leading Lady of DEFIANCE fly like a cruise missile between the ropes and knock everyone down in a thunderous crash into the steel barricade. Ares, running on adrenaline (okay and a spiked monster energy drink... and attention) alone hops up to her feet first and hypes up the crowd.

DDK:

Elise Ares is ON FIRE!

Lance:

She has certainly taken control of this match in a hurry. Now she just needs to capitalize and seal the deal.

Elise slings Flex back in under the bottom rope, and turns to see Kyle Shields creeping up behind her. She threatens to punch him, and Shields rushes away. She climbs onto the apron and waits for Kruger to get to his feet. She springs to the top as he does, and dives for a hurraconrada, only for Flex to plant her in the center of the ring with a powerbomb.

He holds on, lifts her up again, and then drops her.

A third time, held aloft, Flex then, squats and throws Elise from her armpits almost clear across the ring. She falls stiffly flat on her back in a jackknife as the Faithful ooh at seeing Elise fly.

DDK:

Holy!

Lance:

What power from the Paramount of Pectoral! I've never seen him do something like that before.

DDK:

To be fair, Elise is a buck fifty.

Lance:

You try shot putting her from a dead start.

Flex, once finally able to regain control, reaches out and tags Josh... back in. He yells at Klein to attack Elise, and then climbs out of the ring. From the apron, he leans down and Kyle Shields hands him a large cylinder. In the background, Joshua Klein locks the disorientated Elise Ares in a rear chinlock. In the foreground, Kyle Shields pulls out a lighter and lights a previously unseen wick, and after a moment, fireworks go off above them that spell out "FLEX."

Or would have, if it worked as intended. Instead, it just looks like "AX" over the ring.

DDK:

Uh...

Flex doesn't look happy and looks back down at Kyle.

Kyle Shields:

What?! We -uh, we have a partnership! With Ax body spray!

Flex nods in approval. He's a fan.

DDK:

Well, back to the action, Joshua Klein continues to cut the oxygen off of Elise. She had a brilliant spurt of athletics Lance, but once she's been grounded, she is at the mercy of her opponent.

Lance:

Never known as the best technical athlete, but do remember, she spent a good amount of time training with Oscar Burns, so she's no slouch... as much as it pains me to say that.

The D starts slapping his hand against the turnbuckle pad, picking up the Faithfuls claps and stomps to rally Elise. Kyle Shields on the outside wildly tells the Faithful to stop, which only spurs them on further. Elise raises a hand, rallying and pushes herself to a vertical basis. Once there, elbow, elbow, and a third finally releases the hold. Elise rushes off the ropes, the D makes a blind tag, and Joshua Klein runs Elise over with a stiff shoulder tackle. He looks up and sees the D flying at him.

DDK:

Springboard "With Everything"!

Lance:

That flying crescent kick, nobody does it better than that D.

The blow takes Joshua Klein off his feet. The D gives him no quarter, and climbs up to the nearest rope.

DDK:

B-Movie! That extended frogsplash from the top! Cover!

Kickout from Joshua Klein. The D quickly stands up and kicks both of Joshua Klein's shoulders so his arms rest at his side. He rushes off the far side ropes, moonwalks, and then hits a moonsault onto Joshua Klein.

One.

Two.

Joshua stands up, with the D cradled in his arms in a fallaway slam. He takes a few steps around the ring, and Flex reaches out, tagging himself in. Joshua Klein tosses the D over his back, as Flex enters the ring. Kyle Shields hops onto the apron and Flex grabs what looks to be one end of a scroll. They unravel it for the crowd, and it's the patented Flex Appeal Logo... complete with three items and their prices in large ridiculous font. Klein turns to Flex and spins Flex around, shoving him in the chest and pointing at the D. He points at his own head and exits.

DDK:

Looks like Klein is trying to tell Flex to keep his mind on the match.

Lance:

Flex Appeal may have the advantage, but PCP have fought back from worse odds before. It's never over until the fat lady sings!

Flex grabs the D and lifts him up and then powerbombs him in the center of the ring. He repeats this again, just like he did against Elise. And for the final one, Flex rushes toward his own corner and tosses the D toward it, but not onto the buckles. He lands like a land dart at Klein's exhausted feet.

DDK:

Again, what strength!

Lance:

No one doubts that Flex Kruger and... Joshua Klein... are two of the strongest athletes DEFIANCE has ever seen. We just don't know why they're aligned with... with... a Shields!

Flex grabs the D and hits a snap suplex. He holds on, and then hits a brain buster. He holds on. And then lifts and holds the D up in a vertical suplex, before planting him into a piledriver.

One!

Two!

Th-NO! Kickout at the last second.

DDK:

I thought that was it Lance. The way the D's head bounced off the mat there? I can't believe it.

Flex Kruger picks the D up and just starts gorilla pressing him above his head. He gets a good three reps in, before Flex just dumps the D over the top rope.

Kyle Shields is there to toss him back in. Flex repeats this, gets another four reps this time, before tossing D over the OTHER top rope to the outside.

Flex Kruger:

Pick him up Joshua!

Kyle Shields shouts and agrees with him from across the ring as Klein reluctantly hops off. He grabs the D and the D looks up at him, just tugging on his Flex Appeal shirt. There's a moment as the two best friends look at one another, and Philly crowd begins to swell.

Before Joshua just rolls him in under the bottom rope.

The Faithful are deflated, as Joshua Klein hops back onto the apron.

Lance:

End of the day, this crowd wants to see Klein as he IS, not how Kyle Shields has molded him.

DDK:

That being said, Kyle Shields has helped mold them into CHAMPIONS.

Lance:

Did he? I swore they won it without that barnacle.

Flex doesn't let up, locking the D by his shoulder in a nerve hold. He puts extra pressure by grabbing his own wrist. Every now and then, he digs in a bit harder and the D winces in response. He's in perfect position to taunt Elise with each squeeze. Carla's there to the side to check on the D who refuses to submit.

DDK:

What in the sam...

Lance:

Why is there a spotlight on the Side Interview stage?

Indeed, there's a bit of commotion as the Philly Faithful notice a spotlight fall upon the Side Interview stage. Standing front and center is "Sweet" Delilah Sanders, who is running on a Flex Appeal treadmill. A few other BRAZEN's to be demo various items of workout equipment. It all looks like something you'd see in any gym you'd pay monthly fees for, except it has the branded "Flex Appeal" logo attached. You can tell it's attached because it almost appears to be a magnet, but is probably more adhesive and more sticker like. Delilah is doing her best impression of an 80's workout starlet. She has one of those headsets on and her voice booms through the pa system.

Delilah Sanders:

It's Flex Appeal! It appeals to EVERYONE!

Lance:

Doubtful.

Delilah Sanders:

C'mon now, and FLEX!

In the ring, Flex takes the moment to release his wrist and use his free right hand to flex for the camera. The D takes this moment to shift his weight and, from laying on his back, pele kicks Flex in the head. Flex stumbles backward, shakes the blow off, and immediately tags Joshua Klein back in.

Klein stares bug eyed at Flex as Flex just seems fed up with it and exits the ring. Joshua Klein enters and mows the D down with a running clothesline. The D back to his feet, and Joshua Klein lifts him for an atomic drop. The D hops, clutching his D, before Joshua takes him off his feet with a discus clothesline, into a smooth hooked leg cover.

One.

Two.

Kickout by the D. Joshua Klein slams his hand to the mat in a bit of frustration, but even he knows this isn't enough to put down his best friend. He reaches up and realizes he's still wearing quite a bit of Flex Appeal branded material, and tosses away a large hair band. Flex protests on the outside, as Joshua Klein lifts the D. He holds him for a vertical suplex.

And holds him.

And holds him.

And then starts to walk around the ring.

And then stops, balancing the D ever so carefully. He releases his left hand and holds the D up only with his right. A moment, and another, before tipping and toppling in a ring shaking vertical suplex.

Kyle Shields on the outside shouts.

Kyle Shields:

FLEX APPEAL CAN MAKE YOU DO THAT! ALL THANKS TO FLEX KRUGER!

He starts climbing onto the apron, very excited, only to be cut off by Carla.

Meanwhile, Flex bridges a flex weight onto his boot and flicks it toward Joshua Klein. Klein looks a bit stunned, as Flex urges him to pick up the weight nonverbally. Klein lifts the weight but it's a heavier burden than he initially expected. The weight hangs low as Klein looks at the weight, to his best friend, and back to Kruger.

DDK:

Oh Klein! Don't do it!

Lance:

The temptation of glory and gold may be too much for even the strongest of wills Darren.

DDK:

He's your best friend!

Kyle Shields is still trying to climb up on the apron, but notices Elise rushing around the ring and disengages from Carla. Ref Ferarri turns around and sees Klein holding the shake weight in his hand. She asks the D if Klein struck him with it, and Klein just tosses the weight into a neutral corner. The D shakes his head no, clutching the back of his neck. Carla signals for them to restart the contest.

DDK:

You know, we haven't even had a traditional collar and elbow tie up, that is until now!

Klein and D meet in the center of the ring, and Klein locks in a basic arm wringer. The D rolls forward, nips up, and then catches Klein into his own arm wringer into a hammerlock. Klein spins and locks the D in a $\frac{3}{4}$ neckbreaker, but just uses it as a chinlock. The D wriggles free, into a rear waist lock. Klein charges toward the ropes and hooks them, and the D rolls through. Netflix's Most Wanted charges and Klein tosses him up in a flapjack, but the D twists into a dropkick, which Klein swats away. Klein latches D from the mat in a rear waist lock and deadlifts him from a face planted position into an overhead german suplex that sent the D in a 360 rotation so he landed completely on his face. Klein stands up and looks over to Flex.

Flex Kruger:

Good! FLEX BABY!

Joshua Klein is taken aback, but takes a moment to flex his bicep. He grabs the D by the head and reaches out to tag Flex, but Flex has since turned and is currently using Kyle Shield's cell phone to film a tik tok. Flex reaches out and grabs Joshua, bringing him into frame.

Flex Kruger:

Yo, me and my bros, we got you covered. Swole in forty, or your money...

He looks at Kyle Shields, who's shaking his head no.

Flex Kruger:

... wasn't enough. You gotta want it too!

Klein releases from Flex and shoves him, as the Tik Tok official video ends. Klein points at the D, who's little more than a ragdoll after that German suplex, trying to crawl toward Elise. Flex is definitely wondering why his bro just pushed him, and pleads his case. Klein extends his hand, and Flex reluctantly tags himself in. Flex shouts.

Flex Kruger:

Like the STAR I am, I'LL HANDLE IT!

Once again, Kyle Shields climbs onto the apron. The D wobbles to his feet, eyes about to roll into the back of his head. Flex walks over to a neutral corner and picks up the discarded Shake Weight, as the Faithful jeer.

DDK:

Oh, not like this!

The D pulls himself up using the ropes, barely able to stand. He looks over his shoulder, and realizes he's in his opponent's corner. Klein is behind him, and there's a moment. Klein looks up shocked and shakes his head no at Flex, allowing the D to narrowly avoid a charging Flex Kruger. Instead, Klein eats the shake weight, and tumbles off the apron into the barricade below. Flex is shocked, Kyle Shields is shocked. Shields hops off the apron to tend just as the D rolls Flex up in a school boy.

Lance:

Everyone does. Let it go.

The D runs his hands through his hair so he pulls at his eyelids and his eyes bulge. He breathes heavy, he's broken, and battered. The D slaps his hands three times at Carla but she raises two fingers. Exhausted, he turns and takes two steps toward Elise and the PCP corner before falling to his knees. He starts crawling on toward Elise, and then just falls to the mat. Slowly, he begins to roll himself over. Just as Flex Kruger gets to his feet, he's close enough for Elise to make the tag.

Flex charges, and Elise springboards in with double knees to the face. She rolls through, and climbs up onto the top rope. The South Beach Starlet flies with a moonsault onto Flex.

One.

Two.

No! Flex is somehow able to get a shoulder up. Elise grabs Flex and struggles to lift the dead weight to it's feet. She does, and painfully irish whips him into PCP's corner. The D has just recovered, and he's in no condition, but Elise smiles and starts kicking Flex's gut.

She then tags the D, and the D enters. The two double stomp Flex for three seconds until Elise exits. And then the D tags Elise back in and the two hit more double stomps until The D gets a four count. This rinse and repeats.

DDK:

The Blacklist! Flex Kruger has joined it and he's none too happy to!

Lance:

Although, I hate to say it, but the kicks of the D may not be the most effective with how much punishment's he already taken.

This repeats two more rotations before we're left with the D kicking Flex. The D is about to tag out to continue the trend, but Flex grabs his boot, and springs to lift. He pushes the D back so he hops on one foot. The D tries for an enzeguri, but Flex ducks. D lands on his feet, and goes the other way with a spinning wheel kick that catches Kruger flush. The D takes this moment to leap over Flex and reach out, stretching to tag Elise. Flex hooks him on his shoulders, and while Elise and the D are inches from contact, Flex just steps forward once again deflating the crowd before hitting a ring shaking spinebuster.

Kruger takes a moment to pull sunglasses out from his back pocket. He places them on his face, and then places a single knee across the chest of the D.

One.

Shoulder up. Klein yells at him for his bravado from the apron. Kyle Shields holds up a large sign that says "FOR FIFTEEN MINUTES ONLY, ALL FLEX APPEAL MATERIAL 20% OFF!" Flex blows Klein off, in firm control as he lifts the D to his feet. The D tries to rush away from Kruger to his corner, but Flex is quick to hook him in a rear waist lock.

And then transitions.

DDK:

FLEXICUTION! FLEXICUTION! CENTER OF THE RING! The D is TRAPPED Lance!

Lance:

But Elise is entering!

As Elise charges, Flex lifts the D and uses the D's foot to kick Elise square in the face. Thrashing, the D attempts to wrest free from the full nelson, as Klein just watches from the apron. The D screams in pain as Flex wrenches the hold in further.

Kyle Shields slaps Joshua Klein and tells him to enter, just as Elise gets back to her feet. Flex notices Elise and begins to back up with the Flexicution held. Elise charges, looking for an Amethystation, but Joshua Klein cuts her off with a simple shove that sends her flying like Adam Cole with Keith Lee.

However, Flex backing into the corner allows the D to use that momentum to push Kruger into his own corner, breaking the full nelson submission. But the damage has been done. Flex barks at Klein to exit the ring, and then tags him in.

Joshua Klein looks down at his best friend, and helps him to his feet. But the D isn't all there, and just kind of leans his shoulder against Joshua Klein's to remain upright. He doesn't know what to do, a bit awkward. So Klein wraps his arms in a bear hug.

DDK:

There it is! Forgiveness!

Lance:

OHP! NOPE! That's a Belly to belly!

The D is tossed like a rag doll. Joshua Klein drops down and hooks the leg.

Elise kicks Joshua in the back of the head to break the pin. Carla escorts her out. Joshua Klein picks up the D, and then lifts him in a delayed belly to back suplex. Joshua Klein then bends down, hooking the D who's on his back, and lifts him onto his shoulders. From there, he shuffles the Director of DEFIANCE onto his shoulders.

DDK:

And there the D goes spinning! Think Outside!

Lance:

Spin and spin and spin!

Indeed, Joshua hits the airplane spin on the D, spin and spin. He gets two rotations before Elise reaches out, grabs the D's boot and pulls him off. The D stumbles out but into a neutral corner. Joshua Klein charges in and hits him with a charging european uppercut. The D is then lifted, seated on the top turnbuckle. Joshua Klein points to Elise and motions Carla to keep her away, as he climbs up to meet the D. The D fires back a few weak shots, but Joshua batters him with three forearms to stop the assault. Joshua Klein climbs all the way to the top, and then pulls the D with him. Once there, he lifts the D for a Superplex.

But instead of dropping him immediately, Joshua Klein holds the D up there.

And he holds him for a few brief moments, long enough for your heart to skip a beat.

Before the two topple off the top rope and land with a bounce in the center of the ring in a huge delayed superplex.

Joshua Klein shakes the cobwebs from his own head, and rolls over, draping a hand on the D.

One.

RAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAH!

The D barely gets a shoulder up. Joshua can't believe it. Flex can't believe it. Even Elise is a little shocked, enough not to even come in to break the pin.

DDK:

What does Klein have to do to keep down The D?!

Lance:

Everytime you think you've put The D away he pops back up again! It's unbelievable!

There's a moment of awkward silence.

Lance:

I heard it after I said it.

Joshua Klein looks back up at Carla Ferrari exhausted in disbelief as The Faithful begin to rally back behind the Pop Culture Phenoms. Elise Ares pounds the turnbuckle in the corner as Joshua pulls The D's corpse up off the mat and whips him hard into the corner. The D immediately falls flat on his face after impact, unable to even brace himself. Joshua picks up his former best friend and places him in the corner. Then lifts him up onto the top rope.

Lance:

I think the D might be going for another ride Darren!

Then begins to climb the top rope when...

DDK:

Wait Lance! Flex just tagged himself in!

Joshua Klein looks back at his tag team partner exhausted and confused as The Lord Pectoral of Perfection Paramount inserts himself into the match and immediately pushes himself into Klein's position and begins climbing the turnbuckle.

Flex Kruger:

WATCH AND LEARN!

Flex lifts up The D. and HE holds him up in a delayed Superplex, for one moment, two moment... eventually LONGER than Klein did! The Faithful gasp as the two men crash onto the canvas with a massive superplex. Klein still hasn't left the ring as Kruger slowly recovers. Waiting for the D to get up, Klein fumes as he watches his tag team partner signal for the FLEX Suplex in the middle of the ring.

DDK:

After EVERYTHING! Flex Kruger, EVEN STILL, had to upstage Klein!

Lance:

I mean, I've never seen a delayed superplex, yet alone two!

Carla Ferrari is still trying to get Klein to leave the ring as Flex Kruger locks in the submission on a mostly lifeless D. He's unable to defend himself and the match would probably be called if Carla wasn't still trying to force Klein out of the ring, causing Kyle Shields to jump up onto the apron.

Kyle Shields:

Don't pay attention to Klein you buttaface, this isn't about Klein this is about FLEX! TURN AROUND! HE'S ALREADY WON THE MATCH! TURN AROUND YOU STUPID BI-

A hard right hand from Klein knocks Kyle Shields flat on his ass on the apron and the Philly Faithful erupt as Flex Kruger finally breaks the submission in the middle of the ring from not getting a response just in time to watch it unfold. Kruger marches right over to his tag team partner and begins screaming at him, drowned out from the cheers of the Faithful and Carla's continuous instructions.

The two are nose to nose, before Flex slaps Klein. The Faithful gasp and ooh, as Klein looks up, and simply turns the other cheek. The Faithful murmur, the cheers fading into a bit of disappointed. Even Flex is stunned, and so Flex does what only Flex would.

He slaps Klein across the other cheek.

Flex Kruger:

I AM THE STAR! I've ALWAYS been the star!

Klein takes this slap and doesn't even move his face. Staring down Flex, Klein reaches up and tears off his Flex Appeal shirt. Underneath is a large painted Philadelphia Eagles logo, and the Philadelphia Faithful pop large. Klein tosses the shirt into Flex's face.

Blinded, Klein hooks Flex up onto his shoulders in a fireman's carry and starts to spin. The Faithful swell in cheers as Klein spins, and spins, and spins. The Faithful count alongside him. Kyle Shields tries to jump onto the apron, and Klein maneuvers his way over and smacks Shields with Flex's legs.

After about ten rotations, Klein wobbles and steadies himself in the center of the ring, and then TOSSES Flex into a $\frac{3}{4}$ neckbreaker.

DDK:

THINK OUTSIDE!

Lance:

I think it's back to just Klein now Darren! He's thinking outside the box of Flex Appeal!

The Faithful are ramped, cheering wildly as the camera zooms out to reveal the D, slowly pulling his dazed self to his feet. He reaches a vertical base, sees Klein standing over the fallen Flex, and holds his neck. Klein turns to the D, and there's a moment.

Before Klein rushes in and latches the D into a friendly bearhug.

They quickly break, Klein almost dragging the D over and dropping him on top of Flex. The D has enough instinct to hook the legs. Carla dives into position.

The Young Titan is being thrown around like a child! It's not often you see anyone able to violently shake around James like a rag doll!

Lance:

And that is a STRONG man. We've said before that despite Tom Morrow's lack of morals, as a manager, the man KNOWS talent.

The ref finally gets in-between Jestal and Titaness, Morrow quickly signals Ali'i. Without any wasted motion BKA throws Dan back with a Bearhug Suplex! Ali'i slides out of the ring, while the ref finally restores a sense of order. Jestal turns around and quickly locks in a side version of a bow and arrow combo with a reverse chin lock on Dan!

DDK:

And now Jestal going to work on Dan! He's added a lot more power to his stout frame, but one thing he never lost was his submission prowess!

Lance:

100%. That's exactly why The Devil's Circus can't be underestimated by any means.

Jestal continue to torque back really stretching the ribs and lower back. DLJ continues to struggle to find a way to counter the move, the jester has him dead to rights in the center of the ring. The Faithful try to urge DLJ on, it just makes Jestal torque back further.

Tom Morrow:

Break his damn back, Jestal! Take out that overfed Opie look-alike!

DLJ continues to struggle but he keeps using more and more energy as he does. Titaness is stomping on the apron trying to encourage Dan to get out of this. Jestal with a huge smile on his face just continues to pull back. James's back is almost bent into a 180 degree angle now.

Jestal:

Tap, you wanker!

DLJ eyes look to be glazed over until finally it looks like he may be out. The ref begins to raise his arm.

DDK:

This might be it for Dan! He doesn't want to tap! He wants nothing more than to make Uriel Cortez, his mentor, proud. Even if he can't be here tonight!

One - Jestal's grits his teeth. Applying even more pressure.

Two - Jestal and Morrow are now laughing.

Thre - Titaness gets in the ring and drops a double axe handle just in time as The ref tries to remove her from the match. She was able to get Jestal to break the hold though. Dan is barely conscious and the big man tries to get to the former Unified Tag Team Champion in their corner.

DDK:

Titaness made the save! I don't know if Dan was going to make that!

Lance:

We may never know, but at least now he has a chance...

Jestal flips Dan to his stomach he blows a kiss to Titaness and hits a huge DDT while he's down!

Lance:

I spoke too soon! Jestal, also a former Tag Team Champion, knows how this game is play!

The Young Titan ends up right in enemy territory. Jestal tags Ali'i in, he lays in a few kicks in the corner on James before leaving. Ali'i with his foot chokes James in the corner across the bottom rope, to almost a five count. He then stomps on James for good measure he picks him up drags him to the center and lifts him up with relative ease right into a Inverted Samoan Drop!

DDK:

Ooh! Ali'i flattens James with the inverted samoan drop!

He peels James off the mat and throws him with a velocity unlike no other right into the corner tags Jestal in who charges in with a body splash while Ali'i runs the apron and finish it off with a clothesline. TDC gets admonished specifically by Ali'i but it falls on deaf ears. Jestal hits a snap suplex, followed by a Boston Crab once again focusing on the lower back and midsection of James.

DDK:

And more attention to the back! These men just aren't brutes, they know WHERE to hurt you, too!

Lance:

And meanwhile, The Mother of Muscles trying to rally The Faithful here!

Titaness tries to get the Faithful to encourage James to fight out of this. James tries to push himself up and just as he does it Ali'i gets in the ring and drops a leg drop on the back of James head!

DDK:

OOH! James never saw that coming!

This gets the referee quickly to order Ali'i out of the ring. The brief attention taker allows Titaness to get in the ring and nail a Yakuza kick to Jestal forcing him to break the hold. It however isn't long before the referee sees she is now in the ring and orders her to leave.

DDK:

I hate giving Morrow or his clients anything resembling compliments, but they've done an exemplary job cutting off James from Titaness.

Jestal and James try to crawl to their respective corners, unfortunately for James he is further than Jestal as the jester tags in the Suave Savage. BKA quickly knocks Titaness off the apron, then grabs James off the mat he fights back at first the punches do not have that much of a effect, but the more he throws the more they seem to start having an effect!

Lance:

And there goes James! Nasty chops, courtesy of Papa Tez!

He manages to keep throwing chop after chop to Big Kahuna Ali'i... then rears back...

THWACK!

DDK:

Fastball Chop by Danny! He's got Ali'i doubled over!

With that, his back is sore, but he tries to shut out the pain! He yells out and the crowd does, too!

Dan Leo James:

YEET!

He manages to TOSS Big Kahuna Ali'i overhead with a release back body drop! Both men are down!

DDK:

Listen to The Faithful! Titaness has once again gotten back on the apron and has a chance to make the tag!

James crawls toward her yet again, just as he is inches away she falls off the apron courtesy of Jestal pulling her off the apron. The referee yells at Jestal. He is too busy gets the shit kicked out of him to listen. James looks to the outside at Titaness and Jestal fighting. BKA comes from behind and goes for a release German Suplex. Dan manages to spin himself mid move... then he quickly grabs Ali'i from behind and gives the Suave Savage and gives him a taste of his own medicine with a release German Suplex of his own!

Lance:

Jestal cuts off the tag, but Big Kahuna Ali'i suplexed out of his boots... er, feet tape!

BKA quickly hops to his feet and stumbles into the corner. The Young Titan hypes up the Faithful and charges into the corner with a big corner splash! He climbs to the second rope holding his fist up for The Faithful he begins to rain shots down on Kahuna!

As The Faithful count, the referee has finally separated Titaness and Jestal and sent them to their respective corners. The crowd is up to eight then suddenly Big Kahuna Ali'i grabs a hold of James and throws him out of the corner in a nasty looking spinebuster (Ron Simmons style)!

DDK:

No! More damage to the back! I thought for sure James was gonna make it to Titaness, but he didn't!

Lance:

That might have been his last chance! The Devil's Circus back in control once again!

The Young Titan's back recoils as his back has been a major issue for him tonight. Ali'i tags Jestal back in, Jestal pulls James into the corner sitting him there, he runs to a empty turnbuckle and speeds off toward James with a hip attack...

NO! DAN MOVES!

Lance:

No way! Ali'i almost crushed Dan with that hip attack in the corner, but he came up empty!

DDK:

Dan crawls over just as Big Kahuna Ali'i limps to his corner... Jestal gets the tag...

AND SO DOES TITANESS!

DDK:

Here we go! The Mama Bear of Titanes Familia is done playing around!

Titaness has had enough already and gets in the ring, and is met by Jestal while Ali'i is reigning down clubbing blows in the corner on James. Titaness and Jestal are fighting in the center of the ring. Everything seems to have finally broken down here. Order is nothing more than a memory, as Titaness clothesline's Jestal over the top rope!

Lance:

The Familia are fighting back now! Titaness gets rid of Jestal and now it's two-on-one against Big Kahuna Ali'i!

The Show of Force and The Suvae Savage meet and she peppers him with forearms, but he tries to push her away in the corner! He has her rocked he takes a few steps back and charges at her like a bull, only to get CLIPPED with a jumping knee strike from Titaness!

DDK:

Titan-knee-um!

The Suave Savage is stunned when Dan Leo James charges off one set of ropes, then the other, then BOWLS right into him with the Dash and Bash, sending Big Kahuna Ali'i tumbling out of the ring!

DDK:

Titanes Familia teaming up again to take Big Kahuna Ali'i out of the ring! Dan somewhat recovered while all this happened and wants Titaness to set him up for something. Titaness gets set and James runs he steps on her hands cupped down by her knees as she throws them up as if she was hitting a volleyball Dan leaps over the top rope into a flying crossbody onto Ali'i and Jestal!

Dan goes to whip Jestal off the ropes for the Mother/Son Special on Jestal - the same move used to defeat M4NTRA back at Maximum DEFIANCE, but before they can, Morrow gets on the apron, and Titaness cold clocks him off the apron. While this is happening, Big Kahuna Ali'i slips a weapon to Jestal...

DDK:

Oh, no, not this again!

The Young Titan turns... only to cold-cock him with Clucky!

Lance:

In the madness, Big Kahuna Ali'i has enough time to recover he catches Titaness off guard and she heads right into The Kahuna Kick!

DDK:

Oh, no! Big Kahuna Kick! That savate kick is dangerous and he just dropped Titaness with it!

Lance:

And James is out, too!

Jestal staggers about on his feet before he Flair flops on the mat. Ali'i has his hands on his knees as Titaness seems to be out of it but they are not covering her for some odd reason. Morrow is barking orders and Jestal staggers back to his feet shaking his head for a second. Titaness is starting to come around and Ali'i is shouting at Jestal across the ring! Jestal nods, and Titaness has gotten to a knee, but she is quickly taken to a vertical base by Jestal right into a

The winner of this match... Arthur Pleasant.

Slater tells Pleasant to stand to the side so he can check on Conor Fuse who hasn't moved a muscle since the second Calamity Pain.

Arthur crawls across the canvas, resting in the corner of the ring while Slater checks on Fuse and a couple EMTs come racing down.

Lance:

I saw Conor blink, I'm pretty sure he blinked. That's a good sign, right!?

DDK:

This became a hell of a contest at the end but there was absolutely no need for SIX Calamity Pains. I understand you're pissed, Arthur. I understand seeing someone frustrated when they don't get the three after hitting a couple of big moves, but Fuse is only human. He's not going to kickout forever. Those extra Calamity Pains were completely uncalled for.

Pleasant's smile is back as he watches from the corner. After a while, Conor does start to move his right arm, leaving Pleasant to exit the ring.

...Until he re-enters.

DDK:

GET OUT OF THERE!

Pleasant pushes aside the referee and the EMTs are far too scared to do anything else. Pleasant snatches Conor Fuse off the mat and places him into another fireman's carry.

WHAM!

Calamity Pain.

Brian Slater is losing his proverbial shit on Pleasant. He tells Arthur if he doesn't leave, he has the power to reverse the decision. The Provocateur looks like he thinks about it... thinks about it...

And finally exits the ring, walking to the back with a chorus of boos following.

DDK:

Folks, we are going to roll to a break while everyone checks on Conor Fuse. Hopefully, he's going to be okay.

Disgusting act by Arthur Pleasant...

THE LUCKY SEVENS vs. M4NTRA

DDK:

What a unique tag team match that we have yet, Lance. What makes it so unique? Well, the fact that members of Better Future Talent Agency have almost never fought with one another but an unavoidable issue between some of Morrow's top clients the Lucky Sevens and who many consider to be future top stars, M4NTRA!

Lance:

The Lucky Sevens have been Morrow's top tag team for three years now. Two runs as the Unified Tag Team champions. Multiple main events with those titles including at DEFCON itself, the biggest show we have! M4NTRA - the team of BFTA member Nathan Eye and his friend, Declan Alexander who is not a member of BFTA, but has been courted by Morrow in the past - think they have what it takes to be that top tag team.

DDK:

There have been a number of issues between these two teams. Twice, the self-help guru Nathan Eye and that metal-plated autobiography of his have cost Mason and Max Luck key matches, including their undefeated streak over a top team of Pop Culture Phenoms. That was the last straw and Mason Luck himself threatened Tom Morrow to allow this match to happen.

Lance:

I saw what M4NTRA did on Uncut! They showed how strong their bond is. While the Lucks have their championship success as one of the biggest tag teams in DEFIANCE Wrestling history, M4NTRA have what it takes. They are both former BRAZEN Champions and two of the biggest success stories in BRAZEN history. Now they have to win on the big time! Which team will walk out tonight as Tom Morrow's best?

The jeering is at a fever pitch the second that Tom Morrow walks out and places his headset in his ear.

Tom Morrow:

Tony Luke's is garbage. I said it!

"BOOOOOOOOOOOO!!!"

Tom Morrow:

Now let me tell you people something that the Eagles need somebody like me in charge! Every tag team wants me at their side! Team HOSS! Made them champions! Sky High Titans! Made them champions! Lucky Sevens! My greatest success story! And M4NTRA want the same! I cannot blame them! I work magic with everyone I touch! My singles wrestlers become DEFCON main eventers! My tag teams become DEFCON main eventers!

Morrow faces the curtain behind him.

Tom Morrow:

Allow you to introduce the team fighting for the right to be the best! They weighed this morning at a combined fighting weight of six-hundred twenty-five pounds! Separately, one of them weighs more than both of those chumps in the ring! They stand at a combined height of FOURTEEN feet tall! They have dominated the competition with me at their side and they will continue to do the same for many more years to come!

SOHER, FALLS COUNT ANYWHERE: HENRY KEYES (C) vs. CORVO ALPHADDK:

For over a year, the smothering tentacles of "The Kraken" Henry Keyes have had a stranglehold on the Southern Heritage Championship, and by extension, DEFIANCE itself. Incessantly reminding anyone who will listen and many who won't that his is the longest, most dominant reign with that storied and revered championship title, since dethroning Scrow for the belt way back at MAXDEF 2022, Keyes has the entire wrestling world wondering... will it ever end?

Lance:

Keyes' reign with the SOHER actually has roots in the rematch we are about to see up next in our main event. It was at DEFCON 2022 when Keyes took the Favoured Saints Championship away from his challenger tonight, Corvo Alpha. It was that run by the Kraken which culminated in 4 successful defenses and that win over Scrow that you referred to, Keebs. This is a story LONG in the making. Don't forget; it was Corvo that arguably spawned the Kraken when he broke him even BEFORE DEFCON 2022. Tonight, Corvo Alpha looks to finish what he started, right his wrongs, and rewrite his story.

DDK:

To do that, he'll have to do what the likes of Matt LaCroix, The D, Pat Cassidy, "The Escape Artist" Rezin, and so many more, have been so painfully unable to do. He will have to best Henry Keyes at his very peak, at the very apex of his game.

Lance: [sighing]

Nobody said it would be easy.

The house lights go slowly down as the tension rises. A buzz sweeps the arena like the spotlights slowly arcing and swooping across the 20,000+ strong Philadelphia fandom. Someone somewhere starts rhythmically clapping and it catches, small and gradually at first and then rapidly building... until suddenly it's clear that every standing fan is clapping in time, together. Unsure why but knowing why all at once. Anticipation is the word and excitement is the emotion.

CLAP CLAP CLAP CLAP CLAP

DDK:

I... feel like we should be clapping, too?

Lance:

I'll politely remind you that we are professionals.

We cut to a shot several tiers up the Wells Fargo Center, where a heaving silhouette blocks out the concourse behind it – the fans in the immediate vicinity going ape shit.

DDK:

There he is!

Corvo Alpha pauses atop the steps, surrounded by a heaving throng of hype wrestling fans, members of DEFsec valiantly working to keep a path down to the ring open. A fresh coat of thick yellow paint drips down his face like a budget mask, snarled in his gnarled beard. With his right hand, he swaths a patch of clumpy red clay-like paint across his chest. Eyes wide & wild, the monster seems to feed off of the Faithful, their rhythmic clapping intensifying as he stomps down the steps.

DDK:

No light show! No music! No pyro! Just a monster and the fans that have seemingly taken him in as one of their own! He's a little broken! He's... a little rough around the edges! He's, simultaneously, the most improbable but most credible challenger that Henry Keyes has faced in his 400+ days as a champion! And these fans are bought in on Corvo Alpha here at ACTS of DEFIANCE, Lance!

Half way down the steps towards the ring, Alpha climbs up on a fan's chair and BARKS at the Faithful, who BARK back. Clapping away. An ugly, crooked smile forms on the savage's lips before dropping off the chair and resuming his trip to the ring. His wet, black mullet bops to the beat of the fan's clapping as he goes.

Lance:

If he is to defeat one of the pillars of Vae Victis tonight, he's going to need more than the support of this crowd.

DDK:

...buzzkill...

Alpha leaps the guard rail, several fans clapping him across the back and shoulders as he rounds the ring before sliding inside. Taking the capacity crowd in for a moment, Alpha finds a seat atop a corner turnbuckle, his head hung, elbows on his knees.

The lights cut out and the clapping ceases, replaced by a cacophony of deafening boos.

♪

Beacons flash throughout the arena in a distinct order of colors representing Vae Victis and the pancake-loving maniac that's laid claim to the DEFIANCE Southern Heritage Championship: RED, WHITE, PINK, BLUE, RED, WHITE, PINK, BLUE.

And then, the wagons.

A series of wagons, in fact. Each pulled by a pair of Plague Doctors across the stage as other Dancer Plague Doctors cavort and cajole around them with bright pink and blue sequins on their robes. Upon each wagon sits a billboard-sized piece of artwork designed to educate the masses about Consul Keyes' conquered territory.

The average Faithful is largely ignorant of the outside world, you see. They must be taught what it is they are Triumphant for.

The first billboard wagon displays gorgeous oil-painted artwork of a pillaged carriage, a glorious white tiger, and a smear of red paint. Corvo Alpha, the man Keyes defeated for the Favoured Saints Championship.

The second billboard wagon displays a child's cartoon, showing a blond kid with green pants and a black eye crying his eyes out. Conor Fuse, the first Favoured Saints defense.

The third billboard wagon displays an enormous black smudge, though we can see hints of top hats and studded belts and...love? Rezin, the second Favoured Saints defense.

The fourth billboard wagon is a comic book page, a pixelated and highly stylized Western showing a White Hatted hero felled by a dark man in a pink hat. Leyenda de Ocho, the third Favoured Saints defense.

The fifth billboard wagon is literally on fire, and a half-clad Plague Doctor (the mask and the underpants, to be clear) sprints from the back and sprays it down with a fire extinguisher, leaving smoky ash to roll across the rest of the stage. Alvaro de Vargas, the fourth Favoured Saints defense.

The lights cease to pulse between four colors, and now intensely flood the arena in hot pink.

The sixth billboard wagon displays art-within-art, a series of syringes labeled "serum" hanging in an apparent art gallery as a faceless woman looks on (in despair?). Scrow, the man Keyes defeated for the Southern Heritage Championship.

The seventh billboard wagon displays a pale moon split in half by some horror, rising over a barren landscape, desolate, complete with a Fleur de Lis made of many small bones. Matt LaCroix, the first SOHER defense.

The eighth billboard wagon is a Greek-style monument to beer complete with grassy hoppy fields and marble columns and two naked Cupid statues holding pitchers...one of whom's head has been removed, its torso smattered in globs of pink paint. Pat Cassidy, the second SOHER defense.

The ninth billboard wagon is a cacophony of colors so unpredictable that Jackson Pollock calls bollocks, surrounded by a horrifying mess of mangled steel that vaguely resembles a cage. One side of the cage seems bleaker than the other, somehow. The FIST & SOHER Elimination Match, the third (through seventh? Nah, let's not legislate it this hard, we're having fun) SOHER defense.

The tenth billboard wagon is just a blown up photo of Nomar Garciaparra in his full baseball uniform, crying his eyes out. Reaper Red Sox (aka Butcher Victorious Bein' a Goof), the fourth SOHER defense.

The eleventh billboard wagon is very pop art - in an array of colored panels in the style of Andy Warhol, we see a human knee crashing into a capital D causing it to explode over and over and over and over and over and over. The D, the fifth SOHER defense.

The twelfth wagon has swapped the billboard out entirely, replacing it with stacks and stacks and stacks and stacks and stacks of pancakes. There have to be many stacks, you see, due to the prerequisite size of each stack. The Faithful clamor for snacks from the Plague Doctors that are being playfully denied. The Short Stack Battlepalooza Sponsored by IHOP, the sixth SOHER defense.

The thirteenth billboard wagon returns to a classical oil-painted style, ladders strewn about the brown and gray reaches as one triumphant golden ladder pierces through the heap - and a Valkyrie falling to her doom as a tiny pink octopus sits idly on top. Elise Ares, the seventh SOHER defense.

The fourteenth billboard wagon will get people fired if it's described properly, but you know who to talk to for the real answers. Justin Sane, the eighth SOHER defense.

The fifteenth billboard wagon is a stunningly realistic rendition of 1922's Nosferatu with big pink X's over his eyes. Count Novick, the ninth SOHER defense.

The sixteenth wagon is empty, save for an Ugly Bearded Plague Doctor wearing a the black studded Punk Rawk belt across his shoulder and chest like he's some sort of Victorian Chewbacca. He's throwing up the double deuce to everyone with eyes. Boos elevate at the lack of art, given who they know this represents and the message being sent. Rezin, the tenth SOHER defense.

The seventeenth wagon is several very large torsos, most vertical, but one crumpled in a heap in the corner. Dan Leo James, the eleventh SOHER defense.

WHEW, that's a lot of wagons.

Talk about your wheel budgets. One imagines the DEFIANCE prop team is thankful that their wheel logistics worked out so well.

Especially because, believe it or not, this charade of a professional wrestling entrance is still going on.

We finally get a positive pop from the crowd, because as with any Triumph, exotic animals are a must. And two brave Plague Doctors are doing an admirable job corralling Helen the Tiger across the stage as spotlights adorn Her Majesty.

Next, believe it or not...is Sonny Silver. He holds aloft the grand treasures, the spoils of war, that this Emperor has claimed on behalf of his empire - with its distinctive pink leather strap and rigorously-shined fine metal plates, Silver holds the SOHER aloft, bright lights shining upon it, reflecting the belt as if it were the Great Lighthouse of Alexandria.

And finally.

There's no way to sugarcoat it, friends.

It's a pink chariot.

Henry Keyes is on top of it.

Over his Vae Victis-branded wrestling gear, he's wearing a pink Triumphal Toga.

...and bright blue laurel leaves on his head. A bastardized Julius Caesar.

DDK:

How often do you think about the Roman Empire?

Lance:

Almost constantly. It's interfering in all of my personal and professional relationships.

Keyes steps down from the chariot, arms held wide at the masses that are throwing garbage at him at this point. Helper Plague Doctors approach him and retrieve his laurel leaves and his toga as Keyes keeps his arms outstretched. That work completed, Sonny leads Keyes towards the ring, keeping the SOHER held aloft.

DDK:

Lance, you know me - while I am a detractor of everything Vae Victis and Henry Keyes stand for, I always try to call it like it is: in my estimation, this is the most dominant competitor in professional wrestling today.

Lance:

The Kraken is the closest I've come to seeing the Terminator in real life, ok? Henry Keyes is relentless, and he can squeeze so much motivation from even the smallest slight against him. Corvo Alpha has been the bane of Henry Keyes' existence, and you can be sure that Keyes will spend every moment he can sending his message of dominance.

Keyes stretches in the ring, grinning the Classic-Dickbag-Kraken-shit-eating grin. Silver stands just behind him, beaming with pride. Across the ring, Alpha is unmoving, still seated atop the turnbuckle. As Darren Quimbey takes his place center-ring, a portion of the crowd politely quiets for our house announcer.

Darren Quimbey:

Camera's pan the cheering crowd before returning to Quimbey.

Darren Quimbey:

Keyes is resplendent in the moment, marinating in the hate. Making it his.

As Quimbey ducks out of the ring, Benny Doyle steps forward between the two combatants, the SOHER held proudly above his head for all to absorb just what's at stake. Keyes jabs an index finger at the belt, screaming wildly, reminding Alpha, and us all, that it belongs to him. That it is his. His forever. His always. The AlwaysChamp. ForeverChamp.

NEITHER CAN KEYES!!!

Drained and burnt-out, Keyes glares at Doyle with an incredulous eye. He bolts to his knees, screaming at the referee who stoically holds up just two fingers in Keyes face.

DDK:

He's ALIVE! The Monster's ALIVE!

As Keyes argues with Doyle, Alpha stirs. Keyes feels it and kills the mood, turning to BLAST Corvo with a STIFF boot to the temple, laying him back out on the canvas.

Lance:

Keyes is INCENSED! Going in for the KILL!

Keyes locks both of Alpha's wrists once more!!

DDK:

ONE MORE COIN?!?

Lance:

NO!!

Somehow, Alpha PULLS Keyes' left arm in, spinning the champion around!

DDK:

ALPHA CLUTCH!!!! ALPHA CLUTCH LOCKED IN!!!

Immediately, Alpha grapevines Keyes, bringing them both down to the mat in a heap!

Corvo Alpha:

DDK:

Keyes is reaching for the bottom rope... he HAS it... but there's nothing Benny Doyle can do! Falls Count Anywhere, anything goes!!!

Alpha wrenches back, adjusting his arm positioning for a moment and suddenly straining even harder.

The eye in Keyes' head rolls back, its lid flutters.

Lance:

Henry Keyes is FADING!

Doyle falls to one knee, checking on Keyes.

We cut to a tight shot of Alpha gritting his asymmetrical teeth. Of Keyes slowly going limp in Alpha's arms.

DDK:

DEFMed has slipped into the ring, checking on Keyes, as Alpha scoots back into a near corner. Doyle places the belt on the savage's heaving chest. After a few haggard breaths, Alpha opens his eyes, regarding the championship belt he has been handed as if for the first time.

DDK:

The Kraken has been DETHRONED! The empire is OVER! Long live the MONSTER!

Using the top rope to stand, Alpha stares at the belt held in both hands before looking to the Faithful, as if hearing their loud reaction for the first time. Perhaps propelled by that reaction and the hard-rock gallop of the music, Alpha is infused with a renewed adrenaline, springing to the middle turnbuckle. He slowly raises the pink strap overhead to a deafening ovation!

DDK:

Corvo Alpha has DONE IT!

A deranged, elated smile on his swollen face, Corvo Alpha stands tall, soaking in the moment.

Lance:

What a night of action! And somehow, someway, we get to do it all over again tomorrow night!

DDK:

The Kraken came up short tonight... An era ended! Will Vae Victis right the proverbial airship tomorrow night when Oscar Burns, DEFIANCE Himself, challenges the Biggest FIST, Dex Joy? I can't wait to find out!

DDK:

For my colleague, Lance Warner, and for everyone here at the Wells Fargo Center in Philadelphia, we thank you for joining us! I am "Downtown" Darren Keebler! We will catch you tomorrow night! For now? It's time to party like an ANIMAL!

The broadcasts final image is that of Corvo Alpha holding the strap in his mouth, driving his teeth into the pink belt, both arms triumphantly held over head to raucous acclaim.
