NICKY SYNZ vs. ANTONIO PRINCE

DDK:

Welcome one and all to UNCUT! Coming off a MASSIVE night of crazy matches and even crazier developments, we're still catching our breath! But tonight, we've got some great in-ring action as well! Later tonight, we have the return of Team HOSS member Aleczander The Great! He has opened a challenge to... get this... anyone from the state of Wyoming.

Lance:

The former World Trios Champion seems to be targeting a very specific opponent? Maybe one... with the FIST?

DDK:

And what about that? Malak Garland's continue whining and moaning about mistreatment from DEFIANCE management has forced them to step in! Malak had to put his title on the line against Crescent City Kid, then walks into the first-ever Rumination Chamber where he will defend his title against a number of competitors... AND he also has to look forward to Tyler Fuse who is cashing in his ACE of DEFIANCE at our special Year-End Show in December at the VEGAS SPHERE!

Lance:

LOTS to... I hate to say this... unpack.

DDK:

But right now to kick off the show, we have "The Frontman" Nicky Synz in action against one of BRAZEN's talented young high flyers! One of the youngest in DEFIANCE or BRAZEN, the 19-year-old Antonio Prince!

Darren Quimbey:

The following singles match is scheduled for one fall! Introducing first...

Nicky Synz, your favorite rock star and mine, emerge through the curtain to a nice positive reaction using a new theme song! Synz's long blond hair ripples in the wind as he headbangs along with his theme song. Still dressed as Alice Cooper from the Halloween party from a few days ago, he continues to headbang and slap the outstretched hands of some of the younger fans in attendance.

Darren Quimbey:

...From Los Angeles, California... weighing in at 216 pounds... he is NICKY SYNZ!

Synz is on the apron, playing a little riff and rocking out, before he enters the ring. He jumps up the top rope and plays a little more guitar for the people and then hands off his signature Flying V to a ringside attendant. He gets ready for his opponent...

Darren Quimbey:

And his opponent, from Garland, Texas... weighing in at 187 pounds...ANTONIO PRINCE!

Out comes the young star from Texas, wearing black and red pants-length tights, black compression sleeves and a smile. Running a hand through his hair, he runs right at the ring. He runs through the ropes with a flip and stands up to meet Nicky in the center of the ring. The young kid holds out a hand for Nicky to take and then the two get ready for action as the music cuts and Rex Knox calls for the bell.

DING DING

Right at the bell, Nicky Synz runs at the Fresh Prince of Mid-Air and he ducks the clothesline. Prince picks the leg and trips Synz to the mat, but when he grabs the legs, Nicky kicks him back. Prince backflips out of the move and lands on his feet to big cheers from The Faithful. Nicky looks at the young kid impressed, then charges for a kick. Prince grabs the legs, rolls through it and then hits a roll-up!

ONE!

Nicky kicks out and then heads back to his feet. He stops Prince with a kick to the gut and tries a back suplex, but Antonio flips out and lands on his feet behind him, then catches him with a huge jumping heel kick! Prince lands on his feet again and gets cheered by the Wyoming Faithful!

DDK:

What an impression that Nicky is trying to make tonight! To score a win over a main roster member in DEFIANCE will get you noticed!

Lance:

This kid can fly, too! I've caught what he can do in BRAZEN! Already a former BRAZEN Tag Team Champion to his name!

Prince picks up Synz and then throws him over to the corner, but blocks going directly into the corner. When Prince runs at him, Synz hits a back thrust kick to stop Prince in his tracks, then leaps up to the middle rope and flies back with a springboard back elbow that knocks the youngster off his feet!

DDK:

What a counter by Nicky! Both men here showing their athletic prowess in the ring tonight!

As The Fresh Prince of Big Air falls to the floor, Nicky hears The Faithful starting to make noise before he throws off his headband. He gets ready for a suicide dive and starts to launch through the ropes...

Only to get caught with a jumping forearm by Prince first!

Lance:

Ooh! Counter by Prince to the suicide dive attempt!

Nicky is on the mat holding the side of his head when he jumps up to the ring apron. He slingshots over the ropes to connect with a double foot stomp right into the gut of Nicky Synz! Synz holds his ribs in pain as Prince speeds off the ropes with the quickness and comes back with a rolling thunder splash! He hooks the legs!

DDK:

Kickout there by Synz! Prince is showing something tonight!

Lance:

He makes up one-third of a unique tandem of high-flyers in BRAZEN, the Aerial Artists with luchador Misil and Wes The Wrestling Statue... you heard that name right.

DDK:

Would love to see him here someday.

Prince slaps three times with his hands, but Knox tells him it was only a two-count. Prince clips the rising Nicky Synz with an enzuigiri to the side of the head and then knocks him to the outside. When he lands, Prince poses for The Faithful and then hits the ropes to successfully land a big tope con hilo dive of his own, getting some nice hangtime on the move before he hits Synz! Out of the impact of the move, Antonio is the first man up and gets to his feet.

Lance:

What a big move for Antonio Prince! He's found his opening against Synz and just hasn't let up.

DDK:

And he's got him back in the ring!

Nicky Synz is rolled back inside the ring and Prince follows him inside. He climbs to the ring apron again and then heads to the top rope. He leaps off looking for a rolling senton...

The Frontman moves!

DDK:

Nicky Synz moves, but look! Prince rolls through and gets back to his feet!

When Prince gets up and turns around, he gets kicked by Synz and then gets wiped out with a HUGE snap suplex right into the turnbuckle! The Faithful cringe from the impact as both men are down!

DDK:

What a counter there by Synz! That suplex directly into the turnbuckle might have given Nicky Synz the edge he needs right now to overcome this young man!

Lance:

Both men putting on a decent show tonight!

Nicky Synz is the first man up to his feet, albeit slowly. In the corner, Prince is hurt when he uses the corner to pull himself up, only for Nicky to nail him across the jaw with a running back elbow. Synz rolls out of the corner and then back to his feet before following up with a running shoulder thrust!

DDK:

The Frontman just went Double Platinum! Now he's got Prince outside the ring!

After The Fresh Prince of Big Air is disoriented, Nicky throws him to the floor then gets the Wyoming Faithful fired up. Nicky runs across the ring and flies through the middle rope, hitting a huge suicide dive!

Lance:

That's the dive he was looking for earlier! Finally scores with it!

DDK:

And I think we know what comes next! After he wipes him out, The Flying V is usually what comes next!

Nicky picks up Prince and throws the 19-year-old high flyer back inside the ring. Nicky climbs to the ring apron and waves a hand, urging the Wyoming Faithful to make some noise! They cheer him on as he leaps to the top rope and then connects by crashing with a springboard senton bomb!

STOP BY MY OFFICE HOURS

Caption: "Earlier This Week"

We're in an academic office - an eclectic blend of scholarly chaos and personal expression. The room is lined with shelves overflowing with books, some neatly arranged while others seem to have been hastily shoved together. On one wall hangs a whiteboard, covered in complex diagrams, and deadlines. Piles of papers, journals, and manuscripts clutter the desk, mixed with pens, highlighters, and sticky notes bearing hastily scribbled reminders or thoughts. The largest and most eye-catching object on the desk, however, is a large championship belt with a bright pink strap. The chair behind the desk is worn but comfortable, and the lighting is soft due to a solitary standing lamp.

Sitting that worn but comfortable chair, dressed in a purple cardigan (that, despite what certain teenage girls would tell you, is not from Temu) and white button-up is the Good Doctor himself, Ned Reform. Across from him sits DEFIANCE's own Lance Warner, dressed in professional suit and tie.

Lance Warner:

First I want to thank you for agreeing to sit down with me today, Ned.

Ned Reform:

That's Doctor Ned Reform, Mr. Sawyers.

A beat.

Lance Warner:

Um... not Jamie Sawyers. It's me, Lance Warner.

Ned Reform (sarcastically):

Oh, forgive me. How could I ever mix up one of the seventy generic white-bread broadcasting staff employed by this company? Unforgivable to be sure.

Lance Warner:

Nonetheless, I know The Faithful are eager to hear from you on a number of recent developments.

Ned Reform:

As they should be.

Lance Warner:

Let's start with the elephant in the room. The entire wrestling world was rocked by what they saw at the conclusion of DEFtv 210. I still have some difficulty believing it, but Rezin has actually joined the Honor Society and has made what I can only describe as a radical transformation into TA Black. I guess my question is simply: how?

Ned Reform:

You know what I have difficulty believing, Mr. Warner? That you are still employed. I consider it a great personal insult that you were tasked with interviewing me... DEFIANCE knew what they were doing. Still, I persist... and as blase as your question was, it nonetheless deserves an answer. Erik Black... his former moniker is no longer of any use to us... was brave enough to take a stand. To realize that mind-altering substances had taken control of his life... but to also realize that he was strong enough to break that cycle. You ask yourself how I got through to him, Mr. Warner? You imagine perhaps mind control? Torture? Some Manson-esuqe mind trickery? No, my imaginary journalist friend, as difficult as this may be to believe, life is not a Saturday Morning cartoon - I simply told him the truth.

Lance Warner:

But...

Ned Reform:

Do not interrupt me. After throwing Mr. Black into the back of that ambulance, we had a long discussion. Very lengthy - it spanned several days. We went over, in painstaking detail, every failure in his professional career and personal life. I forced Mr. Black to relive these disappointments over and over until he had no choice but to confront them. Do you know what he came to realize? That while he may have been extremely popular, "Rezin" was... what's the nomenclature? Oh yes... a loser. He saw he was trapped in a cycle. Trapped, like Sisyphus, to endlessly parade around his tired comedy routine only to come up short in the end. He saw that every word I'd ever said to him was true. Thus, he FINALLY realized I was not his enemy. In fact, he saw that I was the only man who could help him.

Lance Warner:

Some see it differently. Some think he sold out.

Reform scoffs.

Ned Reform:

No, they don't. Sure, they might groan such complaints. But that's a facade. They're upset because "Rezin" represented everything DEFIANCE professes to be: anti-establishment, reckless, and sophomoric. And in breaking Rezin, I have broken DEFIANCE. And what does that say about the so-called Faithful? About you, Mr. Warner? That you'd rather see a pathetic man destroy himself for your own amusement just so you don't have to admit that your ideology was misguided. That's not only selfish - it's disgusting. Grow up.

Reform sits back, satisfied with his remarks. Warner takes a moment to compose himself before continuing.

Lance Warner:

And so you find yourself with a fourth lackey.

Ned Reform:

Lackey? Interesting choice of words. Demeaning, to say the least. Bold for a man who robotically talks into a microphone for a living. I have no "lackeys." In fact, with the addition of TA Black, I'd argue I am in command of the strongest force in the DEFIANCE landscape. TA Cole, a man who if you judge him based solely off his win/loss record you're likely to find yourself suplexed out of your boots. Mr. Cole can begin his ascent by reclaiming what is rightfully his: the Favored Saints Championship. And then the duo of TA Horrigan and TA Owens - collectively known as Weighted Grade - two absolute freight trains. It is only a matter of time before their raw power leads them to the Unified Tag Team Championship. As for TA Black - well, there is only one way his story can end, isn't there? By finally getting his hands on his own personal Holy Grail...

Reform taps the faceplate of the SOHER, still sitting on his desk.

Ned Reform:

...the Southern Heritage Championship.

Lance Warner:

... and that, I assume, leaves only one championship for you?

Ned Reform:

Astute observation, Mr. Trutt! And why not? Should I not be the FIST of DEFIANCE? Have I not proven myself to you? I have broken and reformed the heart of DEFIANCE. I have defeated the mindless beast Corvo Alpha. I have embarrassed Mikey Unlikely. I out-savaged Bronson Box. I am single handedly responsible for the resurrection of Scott Douglas' so-called career. You may not want to admit that I am the lifeblood that runs through the veins of this company, Mr. Keebler, but you being unwilling to say so does not make it any less true.

Lance Warner:

So that's your ultimate goal then? To become FIST of DEFIANCE?

Ned Reform:

In time. For now, I continue to restore prestige to the Southern Heritage Championship. Rest assured I will be watching the upcoming Dan Leo James vs. D match with vested interest. While I have no issue defending against anyone, I must confess that I am pulling for the competitor whose name is not a phallus joke that ceased being funny six years ago.

Lance Warner:

Defend against anyone? What about Brock Newbludd, the man you were supposed to defend against this past Thursday?

Ned Reform:

Much like I don't wrestle in Wyoming, I also don't wrestle against any opponent from flyover country. Mr. Newbludd is a brainless macho drunk, Mr. Quimby. He is unworthy of a championship opportunity. What happened at DEFtv 210 was a message not only for Mr. Newbludd, but also for the Favored Saints: Ned Reform dictates when... and more importantly, against WHOM... he will defend his championship. Brock Newbludd is not the number one contender simply because I say that he isn't.

Lance Warner:

And what of the rumors that he's looking for revenge against both you and TA Black for the attack?

Ned Reform:

I would helpfully remind Mr. Newbludd what happened last time he encountered The Honor Society. I'd be happy to allow Mr. Owens and Mr. Horrigan to break his back once more. Now... I've humored you for long enough. I was gracious enough to carve out a moment in my busy schedule to answer your foolish questions, now I must get back to work.

Ned turns back to his computer and brushes his hand dismissively.

Ned Reform:

Good day.

Lance Warner:

Yes, just one final...

Reform slams his hand on the desk.

Ned Reform:

I SAID GOOD DAY TO YOU, SIR!

Warner pauses for a beat. Adjusts his glasses. Swallows his pride and clears this throat.

Lance Warner:

Of course, thank you for your time.

We've got a big main event coming up and we only know one of the competitors tonight. Though they work with BRAZEN as player-coaches, we've got none other than Team HOSS' Aleczander The Great in our main event.

Lance:

We understand that he's challenged... in his words... "any wanker from Wyoming can get it."

DDK:

That really narrows it down. But hey, we see local talent step up to the plate all the time. Maybe tonight, we're going to see someone try and step up to one of the DEFIANCE stars of our earlier years, the former World Trios Champion, Aleczander The Great. That could be a career-making win for one lucky man.
